

Court Puts Off Case; Stay Won By Rosenbergs

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP) — Atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg won at least 24 more hours of life as the Supreme court recessed tonight until noon, tomorrow without a decision on their fate.

The High court announced its decision to postpone action on a stay of execution for the condemned couple at 5:29 p. m.—only four and a half hours before the Rosenbergs would have paid the supreme penalty had a ruling been made against them.

Thus the hotly controversial stay granted yesterday by Justice William O. Douglas, and weighed at length by the full court in extraordinary session today, remained in force for the time being.

MORE PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM KOREAN CAMPS

More Than 900 Anti-Reds Bolt to Freedom From Allies

SEOUL, Friday, June 19 (AP) — More than 900 anti-Communist Korean prisoners of war bolted to freedom last night in a fresh gesture of defiance of the UN command less than 12 hours after some 25,000 POWs were released on orders of South Korean President Syngman Rhee.

The UN prisoner of war command said the new mass break came at Yongchon, some 70 miles northwest of Pusan. The command said 905 prisoners crashed through nine-foot wire fences but that about 235 POWs remained in camp.

An Allied spokesman said 190 anti-Red inmates of Pusan prisoner of war hospital fled early today but that 93 were recaptured. The hospital holds some 3100 Koreans and Chinese, both pro-and-anti-Communist.

THE SOUTH KOREAN Government's unauthorized release of 25,000 anti-Red prisoners in the pre-dawn hours Thursday touched off bloody fighting during the day between POWs and US Marines.

The battle-tested Marines killed up to 33 prisoners and wounded scores more at a stockade near Inchon, Seoul's port city. Four hundred prisoners escaped through eight-foot-high barbed wire fences but up to 100 were recaptured.

Two Marines were wounded seriously. The camp's commander said carbine fire was poured on the Marines from a nearby rice field. He did not elaborate. Apparently, it came from Korean sympathizers.

The escaping prisoners said (Continued on Page Thirty-six)

Wounded Sergeant Is Home on Furlough

A 19-year-old Pottstown area sergeant wounded in Korea has returned home on a 30-day furlough. He is Army Sgt. Robert C. Towleson, Black Rock road, Collegeville, RD 2, who was hit in the right hand by an enemy bullet the past April 17 while he was serving at the front with a tank division.

He spent two months in an Army hospital in Tokyo, Japan. There were broken bones in the hand, as well as a flesh wound.

He arrived home the past Tuesday, three days earlier than his family had anticipated. When his furlough ends, he will report to Ft. Meade, Md.

Before he enlisted, when he was 18, he worked for Valley Brook dairy, Collegeville.

IF THE COURT overrides Douglas tomorrow, the Rosenbergs can be executed tomorrow night or Saturday night.

Should the court go along with Douglas, the executions would be postponed while Federal courts in New York decide whether the death sentence was properly imposed following the conviction of the New York couple on charges of wartime passing of US atomic secrets to the Russians.

Associate Justice Harold Burton mounted the bench alone to announce the postponement in these words:

"The court will stand in recess until tomorrow at noon (11 a. m., EST.)"

Tonight's court decision, adding fresh suspense to the spy drama that has stirred world opinion, came as demonstrators for the Rosenbergs massed in the streets of the Capital—thousands strong.

Carrying signs that demanded clemency, they started a march on the White House minutes before Burton announced the postponement.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower already has refused to interfere with the Rosenbergs' death sentence. It was his attorney general, Herbert Brownell Jr., who yesterday filed the motion to overrule Douglas' stay of execution, thus bringing the High court judges back from their summer recess.

Brownell was standing over a news ticker near his suite in the Justice department when the news came in that the court had postponed action. Just then an aide told him the President was calling.

Bad Leg Fracture Suffered by Worker; Condition Is 'Good'

A Pottstown RD 4 woman was reported in "generally good condition" by her physician last night after a severe fracture of the lower part of her right leg.

Verna Shock, 44, was admitted to Pottstown hospital with a broken tibia bone late yesterday afternoon.

She fell while working at the Pottstown Shirt company, Charlotte and Cherry streets. She reported hearing "something crack" when she fell.

Dr. M. Morton Gratz, reported, "Her general condition is good. It was a nasty break. I applied a plaster cast from above the knee to about 10 inches above the knee."

"SHE SUFFERED considerable pain from the break, but came through the ordeal quite well. If the break is in line, then after a few days we should be able to let her go home."

"That all depends on X-rays which will be taken tomorrow. Then we will know whether the break is in line. The results of today's X-rays have not been received, but we know there's a bad break. There's a possibility the smaller bone has been broken higher in the leg."

Two Boys Will Enter Model Planes in Meel

Trophy-winning model aircraft from the Pottstown area will bid for more awards on Sunday.

When planes take off at the model aircraft meet in Johnsville, near Willow Grove, Sunday afternoon, Harry Leopold Jr., Limerick, and Ted MacIntire, Royersford, RD 1, will be represented.

At the recent National Capital Model show in Washington D. C. Leopold came home with three trophies and MacIntire won two trophies.

Both boys are member of the Norristown Flying Wing club, which test runs its craft at Valley Forge.

Mass production is brought to the hobby of coin-collecting by these four Pottstown boys, shown hard at work in the National Bank of Pottstown's Iron branch at 229 High street. They exchange bills for as much as $10 worth of coins at a time. If they don't find what they want, they hand the coins back, and try again with another young mountain of them. Left to right, they are, Bruce Pierce, 15, of 325 West King street, and Carl Landis, 11; Joel Landis, 14, and James Landis, 9, brothers, of 329 West King street.

CHURCH BUYS NORTH END LOT

Christian Science Group Plans to Erect Building

Pottstown's First Church of Christ, Scientist, has purchased a lot in the North End on which it will build a church, it was learned yesterday.

Hilary Missimer, chairman of the church's building committee, said that while detailed plans have not been made yet, general plans call for completion of the church within two years.

The lot is on the northeast corner of Evans and Prospect streets, across Evans street from the proposed site of North End Fire company's fire house. The lot has a frontage of 140 feet and is 140 feet deep.

The church purchased the lot from Mrs. June Clemmer, Spring Mount, daughter of Warren B. Zern, Pottstown contractor.

The Christian Science church had been located at 910 High street, where it had reading room facilities as well as church services, until it moved to the second floor of 254 High street.

Enterprising Boys Big 'Bankers' Four Youths Put Rare Coin Collecting On Business Basis With Bank Trips

By FRED C. SELBY (Mercury Staff Writer)

Four Pottstown boys whose ages range from nine to 15 have put coin collecting on a mighty business-like basis.

Where the average young collector thinks he's fortunate if he finds a few coins to check at a time, they check them by the thousand.

Armed with money bags, money belts, dollars and long, long memories, they pay weekly visits to the National Bank of Pottstown's Iron branch at 229 High street.

There they get as much as ten dollars worth of pennies or other coins in exchange for bills. They look through each of them, and if they don't find one they're looking for, they hand them all back.

THE ONES THEY'RE looking for range from 1952 pennies with unusual mint marks, worth only a few cents more than their face value, to the 1913 'Liberty-head' nickel, which could be worth up to $5000.

The four boys are Bruce Pierce, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin E. Pierce, 325 West King street, and Joel Landis, 14, and two brothers, Carl Landis, 11, and James Landis, 9, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Landis, 329 West King street.

The others credited Pierce with originating the idea, a year and a half ago. It was easy to tell, from figures they supplied on how many they check on a visit, that they've examined hundreds of thousands of coins.

So far, they haven't found the $5000 nickel (there were only about a half-dozen of them circulated, by mistake), but they have been building big collections of US coins.

They've been very impressed with the courteous treatment they've received at the bank. If the Iron Bank should be closed after the National's two branches are open, Pierce said, they'll transfer most of their business to the branches.

Another Parakeet Lost—Caffman Has the Bird

Looked in your bird cage lately?

You'd better check it a second time because there's a parakeet on the loose.

Ernest Caffman, 117 Pottsgrove, Pottsgrove Manor, reported yesterday that he found a parakeet in his backyard. The bird, a bluish-green, landed first on the washline then flew into a sand box where Caffman picked him up.

If he's yours, call the Caffmans at Pottstown 5456-R. They'll give you the bird.

Lots of Talent

Fourteen-year-old Robert E. Stoltzfus, 268 High street, begins revision of one of the six oil paintings he already has done in the year since he took up painting. An adult Pottstown artist said she had never known anyone in Pottstown who had displayed such talent for oil painting so young.

'Gas' Price Fighting Begins Slow-Down; Dealers Seek Truce

The current gasoline price war in the Pottstown area rapidly may be drawing to a close.

If yesterday's price listings by the majority of dealers mean anything, next week the "war" might well be a thing of the past.

Signs in front of many service stations listed prices ranging from 23.9 cents to 26.9. In some cases new markers showed a jump of two cents per gallon.

Prices began fluctuating early this week with the announcement that the Esso company was boosting its price 3/4 of a cent per gallon. Atlantic followed suit jacking up its price six-tenths of a cent.

YESTERDAY A SUNOCO service station attendant reported that his company has fallen in line and jumped its price of tank wagon gasoline six-tenths.

A service station operator who sells Todyl products said the company announced an increase of one cent Wednesday morning.

The jump in prices is reflected on signs at "gas" stations throughout town. Those selling at 26.9 are but one cent shy of the normal 27.9 price. A few, however, are still holding out at 23.9 cents.

Several dealers expressed hope that changes may be the break they have been waiting for to ending the five-month-old war.

Grand Opening Of Branch Banks Set Tomorrow

The two new branch banks that the National Bank of Pottstown is opening tomorrow morning in the East End and in Stowe are faries from the grim, gray granite structures once invariably associated with banks.

This was shown yesterday by a preview look at the interior as well as exterior of the two buildings, which cost in the neighborhood of $150,000 apiece to build.

The opening celebration will be held tomorrow from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The branches will open for business Monday morning.

The Stowe branch is on the north side of High street. Its main entrance, on the east side of the building, faces the Pottstown borough line, only a few hundred feet away.

The East End branch, also on the north side of High street, is at Wilson street, which its main entrance faces.

There will be banking officials and other dignitaries at the opening ceremonies, but there also will be lighter touches not usually associated with banks. Among them will be door prizes and souvenirs, including character balloons for children.

A typical example of imaginative and lively use of modern architectural techniques inside the branch buildings is the big rear window of the conference room of the Stowe branch.

In an old-fashioned bank, the conference room was as dark and heavy-looking as possible.

In this one, there are four colored squares at well-separated points in the big window. One of them is a canary yellow, another scarlet, another coal black. At the bottom of the window is a bigger square, of light blue-gray.

The window, plus the cheerful tile and pastel paints, and light-colored, modern furniture, give the room a look that is as cheery and agreeable-looking as the old conference rooms were grim-looking.

THE TWO buildings are almost identical in construction. Both were designed by Harold Lewis Shay, Philadelphia architectural firm.

PASTOR, WIFE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Four Hurt in Head-on Collision on Route 63

A Green Lane pastor and his wife escaped serious injury early yesterday afternoon when their late-model sedan collided head-on with a car driven by a Chalfont (Bucks county) soldier home on furlough.

The Rev. John W. Tucker, dean of Eastern Bible institute, Green Lane, suffered a broken finger on his left hand and leg injuries, and his wife suffered severe bruises of the face and body.

The accident took place at 1:15 o'clock on Route 63 near Harleysville when Tucker and his wife were driving east on 63 toward Lansdale and R. Culver Zelby, 22, Chalfont, and his sister, Susan, 13, were traveling west on 63.

Tucker said his 1949 heavy sedan was "worthless." The complete front end was smashed.

TROOPER JOHN FLANNERY of the Jeffersonville State police reported the entire front of Zelby's 1940 coupe was damaged.

Tucker said after the accident, "I tried to get off the road, but it was too late. He came over on my side of the highway."

Zelby, who was scheduled to report to Ft. Dix, N. J., for duty last night said he didn't know how the accident happened.

Zelby, his sister and Mrs. Tucker were rushed to Grand View hospital, Sellersville, in an ambulance from that hospital.

Tucker remained at the scene to watch the cars and later was taken to the hospital by State police.

ZELBY WAS TREATED for the cuts of the face and left knee. His sister, the only victim admitted, suffered a possible fracture of the left leg, and cuts of the face.

The Zelbys, garbed only in their bathing suits, were heading for Montgomery County park.

Tucker said, "I felt for a (Continued on Page Nine)

Low Fire Hose Bid To Be Recommended To Council by Group

The lower of two bids on 1000 feet of fire hose opened at a meeting of the fire committee last night is the one that will be recommended to council at its next session.

The bid, submitted by Frank Rowe, Pottstown, was on Quaker hose. The bid on the 2 1/2-inch hose was $11.5 a foot. On the 1 1/2-inch hose, the price was stated at $0 cents a foot.

The committee also discussed the purchase of 12 aluminum firemen's helmets but decided to hold off on the purchase of any other equipment until a recommendation had been made by borough Fire Chief Richard Lindauer.

Parcel Post Rate Hike Now Slated for Oct. 1

Pottstonians won't have to pay increased parcel post rates until Oct. 1, it was announced last night. Effective date of the 36 percent increase was first set for Aug. 1, after its approval on Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission on petition of the Post Office department.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield said that the date was moved back to give parcel post users as much time as possible to adjust to the new zone rates.

The increase was authorized in an effort to make the service self-sustaining.

Chinese Red Troops Hit Central Front As Action Blazes

SEOUL, Friday, June 19.—The Chinese Communists—heedless of losses on the evident eve of a Korean armistice—assaulted the flaming Central front at six places early today.

The Eighth army said the Reds attacked each point in company strength or stronger. A Chinese company numbers 150 to 175 infantrymen.

The action centered mainly in the outpost Harry sector of the front, where more than 1000 Chinese Reds were hurled back Thursday with heavy losses.

Allied warplanes roared out against the Reds Friday in more than 1000 individual flights. The Fifth air force said B-26 night flying bombers destroyed 125 Communist supply vehicles.

Red Kidnapers Escape From Allies

VIENNA, Austria, June 18.—Soviet officers today succeeded in releasing three Soviet kidnapers who had been arrested by a Four-Power police patrol, American authorities announced.

An American spokesman said a protest probably would be filed with the Russians alleging a violation of Allied agreements by which teams of American, British, French and Russian soldiers patrol this occupied city.

American officials gave this account:

Three Russian civilians attempted to kidnap a Czech from his apartment in the American sector, and two squad cars of the International patrol answered an Austrian police call.

The British, French and American patrolmen arrested the three Russians and dumped them in the back seat of one of the cars. Thereupon the Russian member of the patrol suddenly jumped into the driver's seat and started to drive away.

THE AMERICAN driver grabbed the wheel and forced the car to collide with the other patrol car. He whipped out his pistol and kept the Russian and the three prisoners covered.

The Soviet soldier however, refused to leave the car. A few minutes later two Soviet officers appeared on the scene, apparently summoned by Soviet agents.

The American official was unable to give further details, but said the incident ended with the Russians walking away with the three kidnapers.

Coast Guard Plane Lands Doctor

LOS ANGELES, June 18 (AP)—A Weston, her husband, who is the Coast Guard rescue plane landed on rough seas today and transferred a doctor to a 44-foot yacht and a second man, Rennie Storey, on which was a woman in critical condition in a diabetic coma.

The big twin-engine PBM was brought down on ten foot swells in a high wind after it was learned that Mrs. William R. Weston Jr., of Dallas, Texas, was very ill. The yacht was found by a Coast Guard plane in the early afternoon wallowing in the waves 300 miles off the Mexican coast.

The doctor treated Mrs. Weston and then took her aboard the plane, which took off for San Diego.

The yacht, the Quissett, left nearby Newport Beach Sunday on a round-the-world cruise with Mrs.

FRIENDS SAY that Weston had no ocean sailing experience.

Weston's parents said his wife had been a diabetic for years but had her physician's permission to make the voyage. The Westons planned to write and sell articles and show movies of their cruise.

Last evening Weston radioed that his wife had gone into insulin shock after the drug had been administered to her. He said his auxiliary diesel engine had been made inoperative by spray and water.

Amateur radio operators in California and as far east as Minnesota picked up the message. A Dr. Rockwood of Feris Falls, Minn., radioed Weston instructions on how to administer glucose.

Meantime, David Robart, Los Angeles police radio technician who had heard the conversation on his shortwave set, telephoned the Coast Guard.

When Mrs. Weston recovered from the insulin shock, she lapsed into a diabetic coma. As Dr. Rockwood gave further instructions, Weston broadcast that water was fouling his radio equipment. He went off the air at 11 30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hansell French celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary. Dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steinbright, Cedars; Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Berry and daughter, Kathy. Their dinner guests the next evening were Fritz and Leo Bendheim of New York City.

Cub Scouts of Den 3, Evansburg, held a "Fishing Derby" at Island Grove on the Perkin. In 90 minutes the six cub scouts participating caught 35 fish. Dick Wells was awarded a magnifying glass for catching the largest fish, an 11-inch bass, and Bosworth Irvine received a fishing pole for catching the most fish, which was 11.

All fish were released. The boys were accompanied by their den father, James Irvine. Cub Scouts from the Evansburg, Biff Duffey, Howard Fisher, John Winkler, and Harvey Leshner.

THE NEWLY ORGANIZED 4-H club of Evansburg held a meeting at the home of Mrs. George A. Longacre. Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Grubb, Walter F. McCurdy, Maurice Swede and Joe L. Bowen.

In the absence of McCurdy president, Robert Eppheimer, second vice president, will take over as club executive, and George Copeland will serve as acting secretary in place of Longacre.

Resigning Executioner Agrees to Support Wife

PITTSBURGH, June 18.—Frank L. Wilson, who has submitted his resignation as Pennsylvania's official executioner, has agreed to pay $145 monthly support to his estranged wife.

Mrs. Caroline Wilson the past January claimed Wilson had in grant a parole to Rufus R. Erb, of Frederick, who is serving six months in the county prison on a gambling charge.

Erb was sentenced by President Judge Harold G. Knight. In addition to the jail term, he was ordered to pay a $500 fine.

In the petition filed by Attorney Louis Sager, the prisoner claims he has "learned a lesson" and is anxious to return home to his wife and two children. He has been promised a job as a house painter he said.

Erb was arrested by State police of the Jeffersonville barracks, Feb. 27 when they found a quantity of punch boards stored in his barn.

BRANCH BANKS FAR CRY FROM OLD STRUCTURES

Gala Opening Slated
Tomorrow at 10 A. M.

announced plans for the branch banks early in 1952. It invited only local contractors to submit bids. The low bid of the four submitted was that of Warren B. Zern, Pottstown contractor.

The bank vaults and other specialized construction was done by the Cunnecen company, Philadelphia.

The basic design of the eight-sided buildings is two rectangles. The larger rectangle at front is 50 by 24 feet. Attached to it is a rectangle, 30 by 36 feet.

The idea here was to have a structure to which additions could be made without encountering prohibitive costs and without marring the appearance of the buildings.

THE LARGER rectangle houses the main banking room. The smaller one houses such things as the vault and conference room.

Both buildings include such up-to-date features as air-conditioning, huge expanses of glass, a slightly sloping ceiling (to permit daylight to be divided more evenly over the main banking room).

But the biggest pride and joy of the banks' officials are the big, macadamized parking lots, with room for nearly 60 cars apiece, and the completely equipped facilities for drive-in banking.

There is a two-way transmitter that amplifies the voice of the customer on the outside of the sealed, glass area in which the teller works and that amplifies the teller's voice for the customer. The mechanism prevents a customer from reaching across the counter, just as a precaution against the wrong kind of motorist's wanting to do the wrong kind of drive-in bank job.

ALONGSIDE the drive-in window is a standard night depository. The main banking room has two big walls of glass and two smaller walls of bare brick, which contrast effectively with the gray-blue asphalt tile on the floor and the oyster-white color of the acoustic tile on the ceiling.

At the rear of the main banking room are five tellers windows as an open-sided manager's area.

At the rear of each building is the bank vault of standard construction.

Across the hallway from them are three cheerful-looking coupon rooms with glass doors (no, you can't see through the glass).

THE ONLY place in the building where traditional granite gets a break is just inside the front door, where a slab of polished black granite about eight feet high serves as both a partition between sides of the huge room and as an effective contrast with the brick walls inside.

The main glass wall is one of the very few in the Pottstown area on which three panels of glass have been used on top of one another, banking the windows are drapes chosen by an interior decorator.

In the rear rooms and even in the basement, the predominant wall color is canary yellow.

Although each building is only a branch of the National Bank, which has its main banks at 205 and 229 High streets, they will offer a wide range of banking services.

Among these are loans, savings

Shopping Center in East End Planned

Nicely timed with tomorrow's they're stepping in every day to go opening of the East End branch through it. I think the enthusiasm bank was the news yesterday that is really something."

Assuring the branch bank's business of a flying start, Oberlander Stanley Swinehart, who has built literally hundreds of homes in and around Pottstown, said, "The fact that Firestone Tire & Rubber company's huge payroll account is ready to be transferred from the National's downtown branch, which would be close to the branch that the National Bank is opening.

Swinehart said details of the plan are not completed, but he said that there would be at least ten stores in the center.

(The East End, while it has grown greatly home-wise in recent years, still is without many of the shopping facilities afforded in other sections of the borough. A step toward remedying this was taken Tuesday, when ground was broken for a big new Firestone store at High street and Firestone boulevard).

WILLIAM R. Oberlander, manager of the East End branch, at High and Wilson streets, said East End residents were indeed ready for their own bank.

"They can't wait till we get it open," he reported. "In fact, at shift changes, that the branch bank is bound to have its busy spells, even in the first few weeks.

READY FOR OPENING—Among those who'll be on hand tomorrow morning for the opening day celebration at the Stowe branch of the National Bank of Pottstown will be, left to right, Charles Himes, Rebekah Hemelright and Betty Scheffey. Both the Stowe and East End branches will open for business on Monday.

Stowe Branch Bank Reflects Growth

In the opinion of Stowe residents, Reading pike, near the old Bram-a bank of its own marks a real cote hotel.

Of the National Bank's decision to open a branch bank, Peter Dori, president of the board of commu-nioners, has declared: "I am well-a survey was made among resi-dents of Stowe, to find out what things they believed were needed most there."

The two leading items were, first, a physician located in Stowe, and second, a bank of its own.

Stowe got its first physician a short time after the survey. It will get its first bank tomorrow, when the National Bank of Pot-tstown opens the branch on the north side of High street, just west of the Pottstown borough line.

THE BANK'S opening is part of a general boom in West Potts-grove, of which Stowe is the heart. Doehler-Jarvis division is building an enormous plant, part of which already is in operation, along Old the payroll account of Flagg's to the branch. Another major Stowe industry that will use the bank is the E. V. Hunter corporation, Ernest V. Hunter, president, is a director of the National Bank.

Dr. Eisenhower Proposes Korea 'Friendship Train'

NEW YORK, June 18 (AP) — A "friendship train" to cross the United States collecting goods for Korean war victims has been sug-gested by Dr. Milton S. Eisen-hower, president of Pennsylvania State college.

Dr. Eisenhower, a brother of the President, made the suggestion at a luncheon meeting Wednesday of the American - Korean foundation.

The proposed train would be similar to one which collected American contributions for Euro-pean war victims a few years ago.

Manager Mogel Is Veteran Banker, Started as Clerk

Paul I. Mogel, new manager of the Stowe branch that the National Bank opens tomorrow, is a young-ish-looking veteran banker who doesn't believe youth should have a monopoly on education.

He's been with the National Bank since July 26, 1923, when he started as a clerk.

For six years, he took even-ing courses at the Reading chapter, American Institute of Banking, and in 1916 was grad-uated from the Graduate School of Banking, Rutgers uni-versity, New Brunswick, N. J., which is sponsored by the AIB and Rutgers.

Mogel has been assistant cash-ier since 1931, and during World War II, when C. Fred Herbsleb, now president, was in the Army, he was acting cashier.

BORN IN ROYERSFORD on May 26, 1902, Mogel attended Lin-coln high school and Pottstown Business college before going into banking.

Mogel and his wife, Lucile, have two children, Sarah, wife of Raymond Davidheiser, 472 North Evans street, and Rich-ard D., at home, who was graduated from The Hill the past Sunday.

The family has been living for the past five years on a 60-acre farm on Kenilworth road, Potts-town RD 1, which he farms. Be-fore moving there, they lived at 1122 High street, then on Rahns Hill, Pottstown RD 4.

He is former treasurer of Me-morial park association, is past president of the AIB's Reading chapter and is a member of St. James Reformed church, Lin-m-erick, and Pottstown Kiwanis club.

Job-Seeker Foiled

Like most bank workers, Paul I. Mogel, manager of the Stowe branch, has a good memory for dates and other figures, but sometimes even it is less than perfect.

After hesitating momentarily in pulling a figure from his mind, he told of a Pottstown man interviewed for job as census enumerator in 1950.

The interviewer asked the man his street address. The would-be enumerator couldn't tell him.

State Awards Contract

HARRISBURG, June 18 (AP) —The Department of Property and Sup-plies today awarded an $8760 con-tract to the John Staff corporation, Pottstown, for replacement of a stack at the State Highways de-partment maintenance building 1122 High street, then on Rahns Hill, Pottstown RD 4.

U. S. BONDS EASE NEW YORK, June 18 (AP) —Most Government bonds eased in moderate over the counter trading today. The corporate bond mar-ket was steady.

National Bank Is Oldest in Pottstown Grown Since 1857 to Become Largest

The opening of the National Bank's two branches tomorrow is something new for Pottstown, but the bank itself is the oldest in the borough.

It was organized in 1857 as a State bank. In 1884, under a brand-new Federal law, it became a national bank, and changed its name from the Bank of Pottstown to its present name, the National Bank of Pottstown.

The town was pretty proud of the bank's original capitalization in 1861. It was $150,000. The bank, which merged in February of 1951 with the National Iron bank, now has a capitalization of $1,000,000; a surplus of $1,500,000; undivided profits of $400,000 and total assets of more than $23,000,000 — which is several times what everything in Pottstown was assessed at when the bank was founded.

IN ADDITION to being Pottstown's oldest bank, it also is the largest.

It has more than 7500 savings accounts and approximately 5000 checking accounts.

The National Bank always has been at 205 High street. The present building, which is the main office for the consolidated bank and its branches, was built in 1916. The building generally is regarded as one of the finest of its kind in Pennsylvania. Among the architectural features are a big stained glass window at the rear, facing Buttonwood alley; a towering ceiling and a balcony now divided into work spaces.

The whole building cost approximately $120,000 — which is close to the cost of each of the branch buildings it will open tomorrow.

THE NOW-MERGED National Iron bank was founded in 1886. Its name reflects the fact that most of its founders were in the iron industry, which then dominated Pottstown.

During its first year, National Iron bank was on the southeast corner of High and Hanover streets. For the next 28 years, the bank was in the Security building. It and Security Trust company were among the very few Pennsylvania banks to share the same building.

National Iron moved in 1915 to its own building at 229 High street. The building had been the Charles W. Rambo dry goods store. Renovations included raising the ceiling and putting on a marble front.

The National Iron is justly proud of the fact it has had only three presidents in its long history. They were Jacob Fegely, who also was president of the Security company (now Security Trust company); John Storb, and Henry A. Bell, who now is chairman of the board of the consolidated National Bank.

THE HISTORY of both banks is marked by the large number of men who have served them for long periods. John Healy became a director of National Iron more than 50 years ago. Frederick W. Ancona became one in 1914. Both men are on the consolidated board.

Among those working in the banks, Leonard Leaf, now a director, held the prize. He went to work in the National Iron in 1898. In 1918, he retired as president.

The merger of the two neighboring banks was under consideration for more than a year before it was announced the past Dec. 10. It went into effect at the end of the following February.

C. Fred Herbsleb, who was president of the National Bank, is president of the consolidated bank.

Directors of the consolidated bank are: Ancona, Bell, Paul Brooke, Oliver C. Conger, Charles J. Custer, Harry C. Gingrich, William A. Griffith, Edward L. Gruber, Healy, Herbsleb, Lewis A. Holmes, Ernest V. Hunter, Wilmer N. Keck, Samuel H. Keiser, Fred H. Kelley, Leonard Leaf, Thomas A. McCaslin 3d, William A. O'Donnell Jr., Abram Pollock, Victor J. Roberts and Charles L. Schulz.

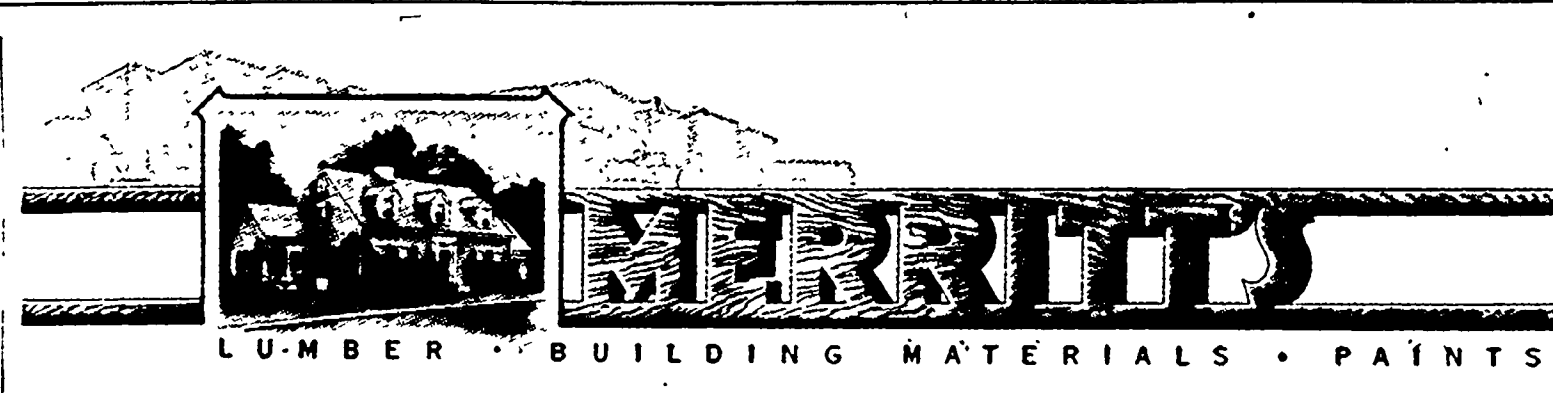

Employees Named For Branch Banks

Names of the eight employees of Pottstown National bank who will form the original staff of the two new branch banks were announced yesterday.

Most of the eight are longtime employees either of the National bank or of the National Iron bank, which merged early the past year with the National bank.

Working under Manager Paul I. Mogel in the Stowe branch will be Rebekah Hemelright, Betty Scheffey and Charles Himes.

Working under manager William Oberlander in the East End branch will be Helen Himes, Mildred Jones and Henry Ramberger.

Officers and Directors of the National Bank of Pottstown Pottstown, Pa.

Gentlemen:

This week you are opening to the citizens of Greater Pottstown two branch banks that will enable you to provide for your customers greater convenience and prompter service.

It is interesting to note that you are taking your banking houses out to your customers instead of asking them to come to you. It is strange, but nevertheless true, that there are still many depositors who are afraid of banking institutions and normally approach them with fear and trembling. By reaching out to your customers, as you are now doing, you can't help but develop a community spirit that will make your branch banks centers of business activity and the source of sound, friendly advice to those people of the community of which they are now a part.

When I saw the Presidents and Officers of the several Pottstown banking institutions present at their booths at the Pottstown Home Show this spring greeting their friends and their customers, I came to the conclusion that Pottstown is indeed fortunate in having such a friendly banking atmosphere. Why shouldn't this be the thing that prevails in banks, for after all you are selling money and service just the same as does any other merchant.

So, to you, the Directors and Officers of the National Bank of Pottstown we extend our congratulations on the forward looking approach that you are taking to the responsibilities that a bank in a community rightfully should assume. We wish you all kinds of success and growth in your new endeavor.

Very respectfully yours,

Oberlander Has Varied Background

A look at the business background of National Iron's loan officer of William R. Oberlander, manager of the new branch bank in Stowe might indicate that he knew branch banking was coming to Pottstown.

Before he came to Pottstown 15 years ago, Oberlander did branch banking work for about 11 years for Integrity Trust company in his hometown of Philadelphia.

Oberlander worked six years for Security Trust company before joining the National Iron bank (now merged with the National) five years ago. Assistant cashier, he was in

Lots of Progress
Noted in Banking
During Recent Years

Pottstown, which will get its first close look at the first branch banks tomorrow, has been getting a look at a lot of banking progress in the past few years.

C. Fred Herbsleb, president of the National Bank of Pottstown, which built the Stowe and East End branches, explained the reasons behind the decision to bring branch banking to Pottstown.

"We have confidence in the town and figure it's bound to grow," he declared.

"The branch banks are in line with the decentralization of many things that has been going on in Pottstown. After all, the town can't build up in the center any more."

For another thing, he said, "We'd outgrown the facilities we had downtown."

ANOTHER major reason was the bank's desire to provide parking space.

The other two banks — Citizens National Bank and Trust company, and Security Trust company — had

Alaska Outpost Scene Of Destructive Fire

WHITTIER, Alaska, June 18 (AP)—Fire destroyed millions of dollars worth of military installations and supplies last night at this key Alaska military port.

The rampaging, wind-blown flames destroyed three warehouses, vast amounts of supplies and the main dock, and injured seven military personnel, none seriously.

Military officers started an immediate investigation to determine cause of the fire. It was known only that it started in one of three huge warehouses.

Hundreds of stevedore troops battled the blaze and were able to save much of the heavy equipment used on the main dock. All floating equipment also was saved.

Church Group Opens
Negotiations to Buy
Land for Building

A group of parishioners of Sacred Heart Catholic church, Royersford, opened negotiations yesterday for the purchase of a large plot of ground at the southeast corner of Lewis road and Walnut street, for the proposed erection of a new church and school.

Owner of the tract is Robert L. Bard, a local manufacturer, whose residence adjoins the property.

Gabriel Richards, spokesman for the group, said they had abandoned plans to erect the structure in the vicinity of Sixth avenue and Oak street, adding that he felt confident negotiations would be consummated for the purchase of the Walnut street and Lewis road site.

He explained the venture is being undertaken by the parishioners, who would donate it to the church.

Borough council recently indicated it lacked funds necessary to open Oak street, and opposition was voiced by John Rudick, Fifth avenue and Oak street, who claimed the opening of Oak street from Fifth avenue would prove detrimental to his business. Nicola Dinnocenti, a contractor, had agreed to donate the ground there for the building of the church and school.

Colombia's Chief Wins Recognition

BOGOTA, Colombia, June 18 (AP)—The National Constituent Assembly today recognized Lt. Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla as the legitimate president of Colombia.

Rojas seized power in a bloodless military coup Saturday. He deposed president Laureano Gomez. The assembly authorized Rojas to occupy the presidency until Aug. 7, 1954, when Gomez' term would have expired.

The Assembly voted also a 60-day recess during which a special committee will draft a new constitution. The allegedly Fascist tinge of the constitution proposed by Gomez was listed as one of the reasons for the coup against him.

Help Reaches Four Vessels in Distress

HALIFAX, N. S., June 18 (AP)—Fog still shrouded the Nova Scotia coast tonight, but help had reached four vessels in distress.

The three-man crew of the missing fishing smack Saratoga was picked up by another craft at Noddy island, south of Yarmouth.

Argentine Authorities Delay Foreign Press

BUENOS AIRES, June 18 (AP)—Argentine postal authorities, placing new obstacles in the way of foreign news correspondents, ruled today that the correspondents' Argentine Government credentials must be presented with every outgoing news dispatch.

President Peron's press office, which issues credentials to foreign newsmen, said it knew nothing of the new order.

The situation is complicated by the fact that the press office has refused for several months to issue new credentials for correspondents arriving in Argentina to work for news agencies.

While the new postal edict does not actually bar the movement of news dispatches abroad, it has the effect of delaying them and thereby making the correspondents' work harder. No direct censorship is imposed.

AGENT TELLS OF RED'S BOAST TO KILL M'CARTHY

Former Counterspy Reveals Plot Before Senate Probe Panel

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP) — A former FBI counterspy operative dramatically named a man beside him at a Senate hearing today as a Communist "goon" who boasted he had orders to assassinate Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Joseph D. Mazzei, for some two years an FBI undercover operator in the Communist party, testified under oath that Lou Bortz proudly announced at a secret Communist meeting in Pittsburgh Dec. 4 he had been assigned to liquidate the senator. Bortz quickly refused on grounds of possible self-incrimination to say whether Mazzei's story was true.

Accuser and accused appeared before the Senate investigations subcommittee of which McCarthy is chairman.

Since he was a central figure in the testimony, McCarthy handed his gavel to Senator Mundt (R-SD) and sat back as a highly interested but largely silent participant in the inquiry.

SOME SENATORS present were curious as to why anybody would get up at a meeting and announce he had been assigned to assassinate a senator. Senator McClellan (D-Ark) wondered out loud about it.

Mazzei remarked that Bortz was chairman of the meeting. McClellan said that didn't clear up the question of the announcement.

"Senator," Mazzei replied, "I would have to say I don't know why he made it."

He added that could only say Bortz seemed "tickled to death" with the assignment and was proud of it.

MAZZEI SAID he now owns and runs a theater at Millvale, Pa. But from 1951 until March 26, he said, he posed as a Red while reporting secretly to the FBI on Communist activity in Pittsburgh.

Mazzei described Bortz as a leader of Red "goon squads" who once staged a head-cracking riot at a Pittsburgh swimming pool. He said Bortz was part of "the elite" Red underground and instructed fellow Reds on bomb making and in use of weapons at a target range in the basement of a Pittsburgh house.

The former FBI agent said he was present when Bortz was chairman of a secret meeting of seven or eight Communists Dec. 4. At the close of the meeting, he said, Bortz got up and said he had a "very special announcement to make—that he had been 'selected' by the Communist party to do a job in the liquidation of Senator Joseph McCarthy."

Mazzei quoted Bortz as saying "I'll kill that son of a b-----." Mazzei said he reported the threat to the FBI the next day.

MUNDT CALLED for Bortz to come to the witness stand. A man in his early forties, with closely-clipped black hair, stepped forward. He was wearing a loud blue and yellow sports shirt.

McCarthy told him to move in beside Mazzei.

Mazzei identified him as the man he had been talking about. Mundt asked Bortz if he recognized Mazzei, a rather bulky, dark haired, heavy featured man in his late thirties or early forties. Bortz declined to answer on grounds the reply might tend to incriminate him.

"Were you assigned the duty of killing Senator McCarthy?" Mundt inquired sternly.

Again Bortz pleaded possible self-incrimination. He refused, too, to say whether he is or ever has been a Communist, whether he is under Communist party direction, whether he ever made a bomb or whether he is skilled with firearms.

THE WITNESS did say his present address is Butler, Pa., that he is unemployed now but has worked at various times in a laundry, shoe factory and at filling stations.

Mazzei testified that after the December meeting talk of Bortz's assignment continued in the street outside. But had said he never did learn from whom Bortz was supposed to have received orders to kill McCarthy.

Roy Cohn, chief attorney for the subcommittee, announced at the conclusion of today's hearing that it would resume next week with more witnesses having knowledge of "further discussions on this very issue with top leaders of the Communist party." He offered no names.

Mundt said a transcript of the testimony today will be sent to the Justice department to determine whether this "conspiracy" might be "carrying contempt of Congress to the 10th degree."

Mundt CALLED for Bortz to come to the witness stand. A man in his early forties, with closely-clipped black hair, stepped forward. He was wearing a loud blue and yellow sports shirt.

McCarthy told him to move in beside Mazzei.

Mazzei identified him as the man he had been talking about. Mundt asked Bortz if he recognized Mazzei, a rather bulky, dark haired, heavy featured man in his late thirties or early forties. Bortz declined to answer on grounds the reply might tend to incriminate him.

"Were you assigned the duty of killing Senator McCarthy?" Mundt inquired sternly.

Again Bortz pleaded possible self-incrimination. He refused, too, to say whether he is or ever has been a Communist, whether he is under Communist party direction, whether he ever made a bomb or whether he is skilled with firearms.

THE WITNESS did say his present address is Butler, Pa., that he is unemployed now but has worked at various times in a laundry, shoe factory and at filling stations.

Mazzei testified that after the December meeting talk of Bortz's assignment continued in the street outside. But had said he never did learn from whom Bortz was supposed to have received orders to kill McCarthy.

Roy Cohn, chief attorney for the subcommittee, announced at the conclusion of today's hearing that it would resume next week with more witnesses having knowledge of "further discussions on this very issue with top leaders of the Communist party." He offered no names.

Mundt said a transcript of the testimony today will be sent to the Justice department to determine whether this "conspiracy" might be "carrying contempt of Congress to the 10th degree."

UN Command Assures Red Negotiators Roundup of Escapees Will Be Pressed

MUNSAN, Friday, June 19 (AP)—The UN command rushed assurance last night to the Reds at Panmunjom that a roundup is being pressed of 26,000 anti-Red prisoners freed yesterday by defiant South Korea in a move that threatened the truce.

Optimism persisted here that an armistice would be signed shortly, but trouble might break out later over the prisoner incident.

"Every effort is being made to recover the prisoners," read a letter from Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior UN truce delegate to North Korean Gen. Nam Il, the top Red negotiator.

The letter was dispatched by courier while US troops pushed the almost hopeless task of finding prisoners released on orders of South Korea's President Syngman Rhee.

IN ADDITION to some 25,000 freed on Rhee's orders, nearly 1400 more were at large early today after mass breakouts at camps near Incheon and Yongchon. US Marines and POWs battled during the break near Incheon.

Up until nightfall Thursday, about 1000 of the prisoners had been rounded up. But with the prisoners slipping into civilian clothes and being sheltered under Rhee's orders, it was an almost impossible task.

The regular armistice teams were in recess and only interpreters were at work at Panmunjom on the final draft of the document when the explosive situation developed.

Rhee's order, violating the key point agreed to after more than a year of wrangling, was issued at the very time when there was every expectation that the cease-fire truce would be signed within a week, probably June 25.

THE TWO SIDES on June 9 had announced agreement that captured Reds refusing to go home would be turned over to a five-nation neutral commission for 90 days while Red "explanation" teams tried to persuade them to go home. If this failed, then a post-armistice conference would have to go to it for 120 days after which any Reds still refusing repatriation would be freed.

Justice Rules Out Murder in Death Of Child Swimmer

MIAMI, Fla., June 18 (AP)—Peace Justice Edwin Lee Mason today dismissed a warrant charging Russell George Tongay with second degree murder in the beating of his five-year-old swimming star daughter, Kathy.

At the same time, Mason ordered a manslaughter warrant issued for Tongay and set bond at $1000.

Summing up after more than three hours of a combined inquest and preliminary hearing, Mason said there was no evidence to show any beating by the defendant with his hands or fists had been presented by the State.

He said "Kathy Tongay came to her death on May 5, 1953, as a result of injuries received when she attempted to execute a high dive from the 33-foot tower at the MacFadden-Deauville pool, Miami Beach, and that she did so in an improper manner, rupturing her intestine which cause peritonitis and death."

AIR TRANSPORT SPINS TO EARTH KILLING 129 GIs

Flaming Wreckage Consumes Service Men Returning To Korea Zone

TOKYO, Friday, June 19 (AP)—The world's worst air disaster killed every one of 129 US servicemen aboard a giant Globemaster in a fiery crash near Tokyo yesterday.

The great, two-decked C-124, its engines failing after a take-off for Korea, was trying desperately to get back to Tachikawa air base, 25-miles west of Tokyo. It never made it.

The Globemaster went into a flat spin, staggered, and plummeted nose down in a muddy farm.

Japanese farmers said there was a terrific flash and a roar as the 3000 gallons of gasoline aboard burst into flame. Then the dead and dying were incinerated in a towering funeral pyre.

"THE SMELL of burned oil and human flesh was terrible," AP Correspondent Stan Carter reported from the scene. "The bodies were terribly burned and mangled."

"The fire was so hot it ignited magnesium metal in the plane's framework and part of it burned like a thermite bomb."

"The rain kept coming down, hissing on the hot steel that was tangled up in giant balls of wreckage."

"The salvage crews were working in leg-deep mud. It was like something from the Korean battlefield—medics carrying the bodies away in litters and the ambulances filling slowly down the road."

HOURS LATER, by searchlight, Air Force crews worked to recover the charred bodies. One victim was found still clasping his rosary. He had been praying when his fate overtook him.

The Air Force said it would hold an immediate investigation to try to discover the cause of the crash. The long list of victims will not be released until their next of kin are notified.

Of the total aboard, seven were crew members and the rest were airmen and Army engineers attached to air bases returning to Korea from rest leave in Japan.

French Assembly Votes Down Marie; Government Crisis Enters 30th Day

PARIS, Friday, June 19 (AP)—The French National Assembly refused today to approve Andre Marie as premier, thus prolonging the governmental crisis now in its 30th day.

Unofficial tabulations showed Marie got only 275 of the 314 votes needed for investiture.

Marie—political veteran who was premier for about a month in 1948 and who has served in ten of the 18 French Cabinets since World War II—was the fourth candidate to be turned down by the Assembly in the past month.

Two others decided against asking parliamentary approval and another three refused informal offers.

INABILITY OF the Assembly to agree on a man to head the Government already has forced one postponement of the scheduled Big Three Bermuda conference with President Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister Churchill.

Another postponement is being dault.

WEST DEMANDS END TO TERROR IN EAST BERLIN

Three - Power Note Blasts
Red's Execution of Truck Driver

BERLIN, June 18 (AP)—The Western Powers demanded tonight that the Soviet army end its military terror in East Berlin.

They denounced a Russian firing squad's execution of a jobless West Berlin truck driver as "an act of brutality which will shock the conscience of the world."

The United States, Britain and France dramatically intervened here as Soviet armored forces beat down a workers' revolt which had spread throughout East Germany in a single day.

Protest strikes were still waged by unarmed Germans in many cities from the Oder to the Elbe river. Nine were under Soviet martial law.

The three Allies called on the Russians to lift immediately the "harsh restrictions" imposed on East Berlin, where at least 16 anti-Communists were slain and more than 200 wounded yesterday.

THEY DEMANDED immediate re-establishment of "free circulation" in the city, whose Eastern sector has been sealed off by 200 Soviet tanks and 10,000 armored troops.

The Allied powers said: "We formally deny that Willi Goettling, executed after a travesty of justice, was an agent provocateur under the orders of the intelligence service of a foreign power. His condemnation to death and his execution on an empty pretext appear to us as acts of brutality which will shock the conscience of the world."

"We condemn the irresponsible recourse to military force which had as its result the killing or serious wounding of a considerable number of citizens of Berlin including some from our own sectors."

The Western protest to the Russians came eight hours after they announced 35-year-old Goettling's execution. "Millions of Germans had feared that it was the prelude to a ghastly blood bath in the Soviet zone."

Egypt Proclaims Itself a Republic; Naguib Will Head State as President

CAIRO, June 18 (AP)—Egypt proclaimed itself a republic tonight and established Premier-Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, the strong man who kicked out King Farouk the past Summer, as its first president.

The king deposed by the ending of the 148-year-old Mohammed Ali dynasty is Fuad 2d, 17-month-old son of Farouk. The playboy ex-king and the baby x-king are together in exile in Italy. Ex-Queen Narriman has left them in estrangement from Farouk and returned to Egypt.

An official announcement said Naguib, hero of the army revolution that forced Farouk to abdicate and sail away into exile, was proclaimed president of the republic while retaining his post as premier.

The army-revolutionary council, in a dramatic announcement issued shortly after the proclamation of the republic, said the republic was proclaimed "in the name of the people" who had decided "to rid themselves of a dynasty whose history was a long series of treasons."

THE COUNCIL'S announcement said the army revolution of July 23, 1952, led to the abdication of Farouk because he was the cornerstone on which imperialism leaned to crush the people.

It added that several elements after Farouk's abdication still "depended on a monarchic regime which the whole Nation wanted to erase."

It went on: "Thursday, in the name of the people, we proclaim the end of the monarchy and of the rule of the Mohammed Ali family and the abolition of all titles of the members of this family."

"We proclaim the republic. Premier Mohammed Naguib will take over as president of the republic while retaining his present position under the provisional constitution set up early in 1953 for a three-year transitional period."

DEMOS SUPPORT EISENHOWER IN POLICY BATTLE

Wisconsin Republican Leads Forces Sworn to Cut
Aid Measure

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The Eisenhower Administration opened its first major foreign policy battle in the House today with a pledge of full support from Democratic leader Rayburn of Texas.

Opening debate on the explosive foreign aid program, Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) declared the main issue will be: "Does Congress have confidence in the President?"

Vorys, ranking majority member of the Foreign Affairs committee, said the five billion dollar authorization measure marks "the first big foreign policy test for a Republican Congress in a Republican Administration for over 22 years."

But a fight to cut the already shorn measure by a billion dollars was promised by Rep. Lawrence H. Smith, Wisconsin Republican who said he and some other members felt the program would not be impaired by such a reduction.

THE BILL WOULD authorize the spending of up to $4,998,732,500 on foreign economic and military aid during the 12 months starting July 1. This is 476 million dollars less than President Eisenhower proposed as an "honest" minimum and $2,602,000,000 less than former President Truman recommended in his January budget.

Rayburn, who was house speaker in the Truman Administration, promised Eisenhower at a White House luncheon meeting that he would support the President's full request for $5,474,000,000.

Country Club to Go Southern for Junior Service League's June Fete

Hanging wisteria and white magnolia blossoms will create an "Old South" mood at Brookside country club tomorrow evening for the Junior Service League's Plantation Dance.

This year's affair marks the 19th in the series of June Fete dances sponsored by the league. The first was held in 1934, the year the league was founded.

Ante-Bellum days have inspired more than one of the June Fetes, and in 1938 "Southern Hospitality" titled the dance, which was held in the Chester county home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gruber.

That year, the dance entertainment featured a can can line of leaguers.

The first June Fete, in 1934, was held at the country club and boasted a Gay Nineties theme, with men sporting big, black mustaches.

Entertainment tomorrow night—and much of it is secret—will be in keeping with the Plantation theme.

To start at 10:30 p. m., the floor show will include such numbers as a "Confederate Comedy" with Mrs. John McCaslin, Clyde J. Evans Thomas and Mrs. Philip Saylor and Fred Cadmus in the cast.

Final arrangements were discussed by leaguers, over a country club luncheon this week, hosted by Mrs. Herbert Houck, league president; and co-chairmen of the ways and means committee, Mrs. Herbert Drumheller and Mrs. Lawrence Flamm.

Chairmen of various dance committees who were present included: patrons, Mrs. Stanley Prizer and Mrs. Whitney Sanders; reservations, Mrs. John Wanger and Mrs. Jack Ludwig.

Properties, Mrs. John Howard; publicity, Mrs. Ralph Maack; orchestra, Mrs. Robert Raugh Jr.; finances, Mrs. Carl Kleinert and Mrs. James McClurken Jr.

Talent, Mrs. Neil Tytler and Mrs. Donald Goodnow; costumes, Mrs. J. Evans Thomas and Mrs. Philip Saylor; decoration, Mrs. Kenneth F. Tyson and Mrs. Joseph Keene.

Food, Mrs. Eugene Bartholomew; program, Mrs. Franklin J. Burchfield; hostesses, Mrs. Richard Gross; games, Mrs. William Cunningham Jr. and Mrs. Melvin Gingrich.

Meanwhile, the final dress rehearsal for the floor show will be staged tonight at the country club. The polished acts will be introduced by mistresses of ceremonies, Mrs. Herbert Maack and Jill Milard.

Souvenirs will be passed among the dancers by Susie Stamm, Joan Thompson, Bonnie Ash and Judy Sidley.

Proceeds from the dance will be used toward the charities which the Junior Service League sponsors.

Foremost among these is the toy clinic, operated each Autumn to collect, restore and repaint old toys to distribute at Christmastime among underprivileged children in the area.

Others include Family Welfare association, Maternal Health clinic, Red Cross, Community Chest, Salvation Army, library, Pottstown and Memorial hospitals, YMCA, YWCA and the Visiting Nurse organization.

Three Hostesses Unite to Hold Surprise Stork Shower for Mrs. Rodman DeWitt

Mrs. Rodman DeWitt, 186 Reynolds avenue, was honored at a surprise stork shower in the home of Mrs. John O'Dell, 164 Reynolds avenue. Co-hostesses were Betty Halteman and Beryl Keene.

Centering the floor was a hexagonal play pen, a gift from members of Mrs. DeWitt's card club.

Extending from it were streamers to the ceiling in yellow and green.

Gifts were placed inside the play pen.

In the center of the table was a two tier cake with little dolls and an umbrella. Surrounding the cake were ivy and candles.

Attending were: Dorothy Bergman, Arlene Hatfield, Nancy Bailey, Ann Lafferty, Pauline Kerr, Ann Duffy, Marion Shollenberger, June Vink, Marty Lou Smale and Amelia Smale.

Jane Schaeffer, Eleanor Freese, Arlene Lasky, Sara Ann Swavely, Lee Stephenaski, Lois Galamba, Arlene Mensch, Tessa James, Ethel DeWitt, Mary Jane Powell and Mrs. Joe Weiser.

FIRST June Fete dance was sponsored by the Junior Service League in the year of its founding, 1934. Pictured above at the initial event are, from left: (standing) Fred Baker, Thomas McCaslin 2d, Dr. Charles Baylor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McPhail, Dr. C. R. Elicker, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Vaughan, Emmy Hoffer and Jake Beyer; (seated) Benjamin Longaker, Fred Baker, Mary Porter and William Ruffin. Like this year's dance, it was held in the Brookside Country club.

Bridesmaid, Louise Hagin, and junior bridesmaid, Bertha Mae Reiff, both wore gowns similar to that of the maid of honor. Their colors were mauve and green.

Flower girl, Marie Lynn Bobb-Lucon, was dressed in mauve organdy fashioned the same as the other attendants' blue dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of white roses. The couple will make their home in Chandler, Arizona, after June 21.

Red Cross Elects New Officers, Directors

Dr. Elmer S. Friedberg was elected chairman of the Red Cross northern branch at the annual membership dinner meeting held last night in the Hanover House.

Robert E. Jeffries and Mrs. R. H. Horton were named vice chairmen for the Pottstown and Upper Montgomery districts respectively.

New treasurer is Jean Bassett, and Mrs. Daniel F. Hayes was chosen secretary. All will serve for the coming year.

Directors elected for the next three years are I. Leroy Johnson, Mrs. Richard Leh, Maitland A. McHenry, Mrs. Paul C. Meyer, Mrs. Samuel Pennypacker, Mrs. Paul Sidley and Delaine E. Story.

Elmer French was chosen to fill the unexpired term of director Kenneth Nichols.

As a highlight of the dinner, Chairman H. L. Christman presented a service award to Mrs. Raymond Kirper, chairman of the canteen since 1946.

He congratulated Mrs. Kirper on her "bang up job" and told diners that she helped organize the canteen in 1942 and served as assistant chairman for the next four years.

"During the lean years, after the war," he continued, "Mrs. Kirper practically held the local Red Cross together single-handedly."

Members of the canteen, represented by Mrs. Richard Leh, also presented a gift to Mrs. Kirper.

Dr. Friedberg performed his initial act as new chairman by introducing the speaker of the evening, after he thanked Mr. Christman for the work he had done in his two years as branch chairman.

The speaker was Dr. William T. Lineberry, director of the blood program for Red Cross's Southeastern Pennsylvania area.

In discussing the blood campaign, he stressed, "it is the work of volunteers that makes the program possible."

Dr. Lineberry said that 25 percent of the Red Cross budget is allocated to the blood program, and that "everything possible" is being done to reduce the expense.

"Last year," he illustrated, "the cost per pint was $5. This year it is down to $3.59. But, we have to watch every penny."

Total number of pints collected in the area, he said, since 1949 has reached the 423,000 mark. About 156,000 pints were collected the past year alone.

Blood collected, he said, is used whole for overseas purposes; for plasma, and for blood derivatives in hospitals.

Among the newer and more dramatic uses, he added, is the production of gamma globulin, which functions as a temporary inoculation against poliomyelitis.

"Even if GG were the only reason for our blood program," he asserted, "we could meet only 10 percent of the need for it."

He explained that 40 million young people are in the polio-susceptible age group, and that the need for GG "is overwhelming."

While the Red Cross handles the collection end of GG, he went on, "distribution is handled by State welfare agencies."

Initial distribution is made on a family basis, in which all young members of a group, wherein polio has stricken, are inoculated.

Dr. Lineberry reminded diners that June 29 will be community blood day in Pottstown's armory, and that 200 pints make the quota.

Turning to his own background, Dr. Lineberry, a retired Navy rear admiral, spoke of the 45 months he spent in a Japanese prison camp after being taken captive on Guam, where he was commanding officer of the Naval hospital.

"There is no glory in being a prisoner of war," he pointed out, adding "I am alive today only because of the access of Red Cross to POW camps."

It was the Red Cross also, he said, which first notified his wife that he was among the living.

Dr. Lineberry was graduated from Wake Forest college in 1912 and Jefferson Medical college in 1915. He interned at Philadelphia General hospital.

His military record dates back to 1917, and after his repatriation in 1946, he was awarded the Bronze Star and was retired from active duty.

Other entertainment included selections by a barbershop quartet composed of James Christman, William Mills, Edward O'Neill and Donald Sheasley.

On display were contents of overseas gift boxes packed by the Junior Red Cross, as well as paintings by High school pupils.

Invocation was offered by the Rev. Laurence T. Beers, and H. L. Christman presented the welcome address.

Mrs. Richard Scheffey chaired the dinner committee, assisted by Mrs. William Barr, the Rev. Beers, Havard Fosnacht, Mrs. Kenneth Howard, Mrs. Maitland McHenry.

Chairman of the nominating committee was I. Leroy Johnson. Workers were: John B. Hartenstein Jr., Mrs. R. H. Horton, Mrs. Ralph Johnson, Maitland McHenry and Mrs. Ralph Spare.

HALF A CENTURY of marriage will be marked tomorrow by Mr. and Mrs. William Seasholtz, 458 Hanover street, who are pictured above on the eve of their Golden Wedding day. They will celebrate with an open house from 3 to 5 p. m. During the day they probably will sneak a visit to Grace Lutheran church, where they met and were married—and baptized and confirmed before that.

Golden Wedding Bells to Chime for Seasholtzes

Rain which moistened the wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. William Seasholtz 50 years ago has not dampened their married life. They will celebrate their anniversary tomorrow.

Recalling her wedding day, Mrs. Seasholtz said that she wore a white dress, but because of the heavy downpour, there were few there to see it.

Her success secret for a happily married life is to "take the good with the bad."

The Seasholtzes met at the Grace Lutheran church where each was baptized and confirmed. After two years they were married there by the Rev. J. J. Kline.

The couple proudly stated that their two children were also baptized, confirmed and married by the Rev. Kline in the church.

Linwood Seasholtz, Sunnyside avenue and Helen Edith Heller, 458 Hanover street are the children. Mr. and Mrs. Seasholtz have one grandchild, Ferdanand Heller.

At the time of their meeting, Mrs. Seasholtz was employed in a stocking factory. Her husband was working for the Light Manufacturing foundry.

For the last 20 years, he has been working in the Royersford needleworks.

An open house will be held at the couple's home, 458 Hanover street, Saturday afternoon for friends and relatives.

It will be from 3 to 5 p. m. Preparing for the affair are the couple's two children.

'Swing Your Partners' Cry Members of Girl Scout Troop 4 As They Square Dance to 'Billy Boy' and 'The Grape Vine'

Scheduled for the next meeting, Thursday, is a cookout at the home of Mildred Geist, Ringing Hill. Each girl will supply her own food.

Should rain force the gathering inside, scouts will bring box lunches.

Present were: Brenda Smith, Barbara Shaner, Donna Henry, Ella Mae Barndt, Karen Bortner, Joan Russell, Joan Caleen, Ann Barndt, Nancy Hult, Susan Keeler and Linda Sandquist.

Barbara Johnson, Anita Shaner, Ruth Moyer, Nancy Wilson, Judy Fryer, Melaine Manwiller, Mary Alice McCabe, Kathleen Shaner, Nancy Henry, Barbara Bartman and Barbara Heft.

SURPRISED—"This is the best-kept secret I've ever seen —I'm really stunned," said Mrs. Raymond Kirper, above, as she accepts from H. L. Christman a service award in recognition of her canteen work during the Red Cross dinner meeting last evening. Mrs. Kirper, who also received a gift from canteen workers, had not ben told of the award planned for her. Association Reports 108 Nursing Visits Made During Month

At a recent meeting of the Boyertown and Eastern Berks Visiting Nurse association the community nurse, Teresa Melcher, submitted her monthly report of activities. The meeting was held in the civic room of the National Bank of Boyertown.

The report read as follows: Old cases, 16; new cases, six; discharged cases, seven; deaths during the past month, three; improved patients, three; pay patients, 18 and total visits, 100.

Total nursing visits were 108; advisory visits, four; other visits, 11.

The baby health service showed: Old cases, five, new cases, one; visits to old cases, two. Two cases were discharged and four are still remaining.

Miss Melcher also reported that the Boyertown Burial Casket company donated ten name plates for the ten beds operated by the Visiting Nurse association, and also a donation of $25 received from William Grim for the use of a hospital bed.

Stanley Companion Makes Headlines

LUANDA, Portuguese, Angola, June 18 (AP)—A long-forgotten old man has suddenly become the center of a dispute of generosity between Belgian Congo and Angolan newspapers. He is Manuel Nunes Teixeira, the last surviving companion of the great Stanley.

Teixeira was taken on by Stanley while he was sixteen, when the explorer, who had just been sent to the new Congo Free State, created by the Berlin conference, stopped over at Madeira. Teixeira accompanied Stanley on many a trip until he settled on the Angolan side of the Congo-Angola border near Maquela do Zombo.

Teixeira never made a fortune and, at 87 now, has a rather hard time.

At least three Congo newspapers have asked that the Belgian Government pay a pension to the old man and invite him to the forthcoming inauguration of the new monument that is to be built in Leopoldville in honor of Stanley.

The Luanda press answered by asking that the Angolan authorities should not tolerate a Portuguese to live from foreign charity, and that they should grant him a pension.

Underwriters Pick Three New Officers

Virgil H. Gates, Phoenixville, was chosen president of the Pottstown association of Life Underwriters at a recent meeting of the group. Also elected were Amos Trivelp, of Phoenixville, secretary-treasurer, and William Brower, of Pottstown, vice president. The three will serve during the year beginning July 1, 1953.

A film entitled, "Life Underwriter Training Council," was shown during the meeting by Robert Mallon. It described a new method of training. It was reported that such a class may start in Pottstown in October.

Next meeting of the group will be held Sept. 10.

Bonn Climate Makes Oldsters Act Young

BONN, Germany, June 18 (AP)—What is it about Bonn that makes young men feel old and the old as frisky as mountain goats? The climate, say the local doctors.

They say it suits two types of people, the old and those who were born and bred in the Rhineland. But the people from other parts of Germany—and foreigners especially—find it very trying.

It's s-o-o-s-l-e-e-p-y.
Bonn is set between high hills on either side of the Rhine. It's like being down a rather damp and moist hole. Doctors say it is particularly bad for people with heart ailments. Non-natives complain of waking up tired and of ailments like flu and mumps.

PEACE TEAM HEAD—Major General Blacksherr Bryan (above) has been named by Gen. Mark Clark to be senior member of a five-man United Nations commission which will iron out Korean war peace terms after the cease-fire agreement. He has commanded the US 16th Corps now stationed in Japan and will soon establish headquarters in Munsan, base camp of the Armistice delegation.

Old Covered Bridges Might Pass Away

HARRISBURG, June 18 (AP)—Covered bridges, a landmark of rural America, may disappear from Pennsylvania within another decade, a State bridge builder said today.

L. A. Porter, bridge engineer for the State Highways department, said that rotting of old timbers is taking a heavy toll of the State has no figures on these bridges, many of them more than 100 years old.

"Every year a substantial number of covered bridges has to be removed," Porter said. "It wouldn't pay to try to repair the outmoded structures."

The State official said the Commonwealth now maintains 175 of the old timber spans—all on minor rural routes.

"There may be five or ten times as many still maintained by county, however," he added. "The State has no figures on these."

Accord Ends 9-Week Strike at Tube Plant

Approximately 300 men were idled by the walkout.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JINX FAULKENBERG has interviewed countless celebrities on both radio and television, but the only time she was stopped cold, the deed was accomplished by a man well over eighty years old: Frank Lloyd Wright, architect and — grandfather of film star Anne Baxter. Wright blandly suggested that women stop providing "cannon fodder" for future wars when Jinx recovered sufficiently to gasp, "But I thought you were going to talk about architecture!" "My dear young lady," the old maestro assured her, "I get PAID for that."

Robert Sherwood once admired a photograph of Franklin D. Roosevelt in a seersucker suit, and asked the President to autograph it for him. F.D.R. wrote across the bottom, "Here's the seersucker picture, with affection from the sucker to the seer."

FELIX THE CAT

Tourist-pitcher MIKE KRICKZY takes in the sights at another major league park tomorrow evening when he visits the Philadelphia Athletics in their Connie Mack Stadium abode. . . . Mike will be displaying his hurling talents before major league audiences for the third time within a little over 10 days, having gone to Pittsburgh and the New York Polo Grounds on previous occasions for look-sees by scouts. . . . It should be interesting to see how he makes out since the Phillies signed McKesport high schooler Tommy Qualters for 25 g's a few days ago, and the western Pennsylvania boy was 'way behind Mike from a standpoint of records.

Qualters had a 27-4 mark in high school as compared with our boy's 19-0. . . . The former threw only three no-hitters also during that stretch while Mike had five.

Former PHS All-Ches-Mont gridder BOB SUTTON has definitely decided to attend George Washington U. in Washington, D. C.

DOUG MOSER, a teammate of Sutton's on the past Winter's edition of the Trojan basketballers, is reportedly ticketed for induction into the US Marines, July 9. . . . Moser is spending the intervening time boosting Transfiguration's Sunday School baseball team for a league title, working out in the outfield and as a pitcher.

Former Jacobs first sacker EARL STROM, long a court arbitrator and more recently an umpire in the Sunday School circuit, is contemplating calling 'em in the City-Industrial circuit. . . . The reason?—a broken finger inflicted by an unruly Dave Ricketts hit ground ball. . . . Strom will be in active as a player the remainder of the season. . . . He needs consent of all CIL managers before being allowed to join the circuit's staff of blue-garbs.

Reports have coming out of the church baseball circuit also that PHS young darling of the sprints, WALT FILLMAN, has been driving everyone concerned batty with his Martin-ishi scampers back and forth along the circuit's basepaths. After turning the 100 and 220 in near-record time in Trojan garb, 30 yards at a shot must seem like a Sunday stroll.

Despite an unbeaten record and a perch in the atop the Outdoor Basketball loop standings, Three Crowns has deserted sponsorship of its eagers in said league. . . . The team will remain in the circuit, though under the management of TOM POLLOCK, with the new name of the Tomboys. . . . Calling the team Tom's Boys was rejected when it was brought to the attention of the members that a "TB" inscribed on the jerseys would hardly be apt. . . . Pollock, who doubles as a Jacobs outfielder, incidentally is the only player in any local league with a really personalized hat. . . . Dignifying the standard team -lettered chapeau, Tail, as he is referred to by intimates, employs a cap with an official "TT" inscribed thereon.

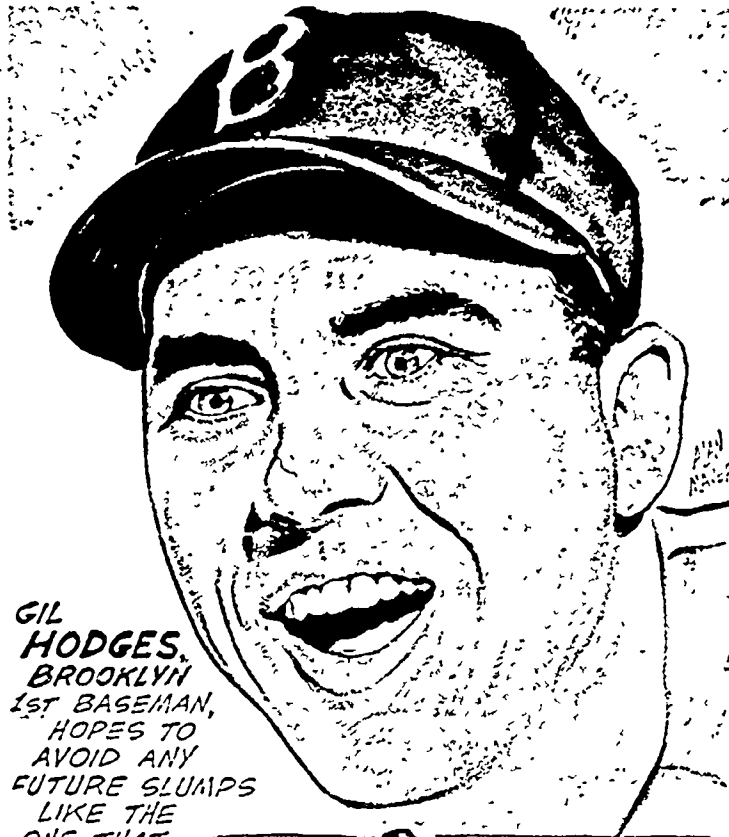

Local councilman STEVE ZAWASKI had the ponies hustling the other day when he hit the daily double at Wilmington's Delaware park raceway. . . . He'll try again this week. . . . The track closes July 4.

The last of the HUD SAMSON hits for a while: a check of Penn State records reveals that the former Hill school heavyweight wrestler owns the distinction of being the only Nittany Lion to compete on two perfect record teams in 1953. . . . He captained the golf team and won the nation 190-pound grappling crown as well.

The Philadelphia Phillies are conducting a baseball school-tryout camp in Allentown today and tomorrow at the Irving street field. . . . Workouts begin at 10 a. m. for boys 16-22 years of age "who believe they have the ability to become future major leaguers." . . . CY MORGAN and his staff of ivory-hunters will be on hand in native dress. . . . Any boy who attends should take his own glove, shoes and uniform.

Five Brookside CC ladies competed in respective divisions of the Philadelphia Women's Golf association-sponsored Four-Star bowl earlier this week. . . . MISS NANCY COPE and MRS. ABE POLLOCK played at Ashbourne in the Class B bowl Tuesday. . . . MRS. KAY GAVIN, MRS. ISABELLE HINES and MRS. AGNES UNNEBERG played at Sandy Run yesterday in the Class C flight.

Errors Hurt Trinity

Coventry Brethren Gains 9-1 Win Behind Ron Domin's 3-Hit Pitching

Coventry Brethren weaved seven scant hits in with five Trinity boots to unstring the loose-knit Trinity nine, 9-1, in the Sunday School league last night at Memorial park.

Dick Mensch, who started, and John Shaner both failed to stem the tide of Coventry runners stampeding across the dish, but their mates' fielding deficiencies presented the foes with six unearned runs.

Even those three counters gained honestly by the victors would have been enough, however, as Ronny Domin hurled three-hit ball at the Trinitys. He allowed one run in the fourth, but that was primarily the result of two errors after a walk to Charlie Moore and stolen base.

Gordon Wampler's double and a run-scoring single by brother Fran chased Mensch in 1/3 of an inning in the first.

BLIEM SPIKED

Carlton "Chuck" Bliem was spiked in the Trinity-Coventry Brethren game in the Sunday School league last night.

The 22-year-old Trinity shortstop was taken to the Pottstown hospital and four sutures were required to close the wound in his right ankle.

Dick Wampler, center fielder for Coventry was trying to steal base when the injury occurred. Bliem took the throw and as he was tagging Wampler, the Coventry player unavoidably spiked him.

Bliem was dismissed from the hospital, and was able to walk without assistance.

Phils, Tribe Tie in SCLL

Amvets Halt St. John's; Lead CIL

Amvets, the team that has forgotten how to lose, ended St. John's first-place reign in the City Industrial league last night. Behind Doug Rhoads' two-hit pitching, the Vets trimmed the Falcons, 7-1.

The victory moved Amvets (6-2) a half game ahead of St. John's (5-2), and a full game up on UAW (4-2). The Workers play Valley Forge tonight and can tie St. John's for second place with a victory.

The Falcons, who have won most of their games through steady play in the field and timely hitting, were short of both items last night. The vets were also shoddy in the field at times, but they came through with hits when it counted.

Paul Neborak was nicked for his first loss in three decisions. The Spring City lefty gave up six hits, three in the fourth and three more in the sixth.

BOTH OF THE HITS off Rhoads were border line cases. Slow fielding turned the first one into a double and the batter eventually scored on an error.

The St. John's infield gave Neborak little support in the first inning. Jack Kurtz opened the game with a grounder to Clark Custer at second base. Custer bobbled the ball and Kurtz was safe.

Reliable Rod Cannell made the second muff on Norm Sundstrom's fairly hot grounder, and two were on. Kurtz had stolen second while Sundstrom was batting, and moved to third on Cannell's error.

Neborak was wild for the first time this season, and he slipped a bad pitch by catcher Merrill Renninger. Kurtz raced for home but Renninger recovered the ball in time to tag out the sliding runner. Sundstrom moved into third place while the dust was flying at the plate.

Harry Anderson walked and trotted to second as the Falcons refused to risk a play that would allow Sundstrom to score.

CHIP MIGNONA lashed a hard grounder straight at manager M. Leck, but the St. John's third sacker let it slip through and Sundstrom scored. With all fumbling, only one run scored as Neborak settled down to retire the next two batters.

Amvets looked almost as bad in the field during the second inning. Bill Ushafer led off with a hopper to Sundstrom's left. The Amvets second sacker tried to play it deep, but he failed to come up with it. Ushafer saw the ball was slowing down in short right field and beat the throw into second base for a cheap double.

On a steal attempt at third base, catcher Bob Yerger threw into left field and Ushafer raced in with the tying run.

Mignona got the first hit off Neborak, a long drive to left center that was held to a single on fast fielding by Tim Batdorf. That hit opened the fourth. Mignona stole second and went to third on Frank Formando's infield hit. Custer scored.

SANATOGA BENEFIT RACES TO HELP UNFORTUNATES

Fans who turn out for the regular weekly racing program tomorrow night at Sanatoga Speedway will do themselves and perhaps some less fortunate persons a big favor.

For themselves, racing enthusiasts will be on deck for what promises to be one of the finest stock car racing shows of the season over the fifth-mile, blacked topped, oval.

For others, they will be chipping into the pot for the Junior auxiliary of the Pottstown Hospital as that group attempts to expand the hospital's orthopedic clinic. The clinic is operated on a cost basis for patients not financially able to pay.

Saturday's eight-even show has been tabbed a complete benefit program by promoter George Marshman. "Everything above and beyond actual operating costs," he explained, "will go to the auxiliary, and there is a chance that the drivers will be moved to contribute a portion of their purse."

The program, featuring a 30-lap windup and a "Destruction Derby" sideshow, is expected to draw 50 of the club's top drivers. Among them will be Paul Gregory, Monk Kellar, Mose Moore, Dick Rodenberger, Smokey Dengler, Jim Ryan and Reds Lesher.

The first of three or four heat races, depending upon the size of the field, will go off at 8:30 p. m.

Manatawny Tribe Wins 1st Game, Over S C Legion

The Manatawny Indians scraped a three-game losing streak last night with a 7-4 softball nod over the Spring City American Legion on the losers' field for their initial win of the season.

Frank Levensgood pitched four-hit ball and banded three hits including a triple and homer to pace the Tribe's nine-hit bingie barrage.

Bailey and Albright each pounded a double for the winners as they did all their scoring in batches of three runs in the fourth and four in the sixth.

The Indians visit the Royersford Clowns next Monday in their next test. All Tribesmen are requested to report to the corner of Third and Johnson streets at 5:30 p. m. for transportation.

Musial Reports He'll Bat .300 by End of Campaign

ST. LOUIS, June 18 (AP)—A worried Stan Musial, predicting he will climb above the .300 mark before the season ends, said today he has no private problems to blame for the worst batting slump of his illustrious career.

The $80,000-a-year star of the St. Louis Cardinals, dark-circled eyes betraying his concern, admitted he doesn't know the answer to his prolonged slump. He's hitting only .250 for the first third of the season, nearly 100 points under his lifetime average.

Has Musial lost his reflexes, a sign that the end is near in baseball? He doesn't think so, and neither do his manager, teammates and other baseball people questioned here.

"Sure, I'm worried," the 32-year-old outfielder said. "I'm worried because I'm not helping the ball club, but—and print this, please—I have no financial worries, no outside problems.

"My business investments, the restaurant on Chippewa and the Garavelli property in the west end, are successful. Take my word for it. I could sell both at a profit.

MANAGER EDDIE STANKY of the Cardinals was interested in Musial's belief he will regain his batting form and maybe even win a seventh National league batting championship.

"I'm glad to hear that," Stanky said, "because I know Stan's confidence, like any other player's, has been shaken by his slump, which is all this is."

The manager said he has never considered benching Musial and considers him valuable because of his baserunning speed and fielding ability as well as his batting. "He won two games for us on the last trip by his running alone," Stanky said.

Stanky and Manager Charlie Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers both think Musial should watch movies of himself in action in his search for the trouble. Musial plans to look over some old movies of himself to see whether he can spot any changes in his batting style.

Dressen says Musial is overstriding in the batter's box.

CARDINAL front-office files support that belief. The files show Musial's stride was just 12 inches in 1948 when he hit .376. In the worst stretch of his present slump, Musial was striding nearly twice that far.

"Maybe that's the answer—maybe not," Musial said.

"I've got such an unusual batting stance that so many things could cause the trouble. I know I was trying to pull too much early this season. I was hitting with my arms, not my body. Lately I've been trying to hit to left field more often, but I've been hitting the ball right at someone."

Pittsburgh Signs Second Set of Identical Twins

PITTSBURGH, June 18 (AP)—Don and Edward Williams, 21-year-old identical twins from Floyd, Va., signed contracts today with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

They are the second set of identical twins to join the Pirates in the past several months. Earlier, the Bucs got the signatures of Johnny and Eddie O'Brien, basketball stars at Seattle university.

The Pirates assigned the contracts of the righthanded pitching Williams brothers to New Orleans of the Southern association and optioned them to Charleston, S. C., in the Class A Sally league.

Don graduated from the University of Tennessee. He won six and lost two the past season. Edward attended Lincoln memorial college at Harrowgate, Tenn., winning eight and losing one.

Partridge Hard Man to Convince

WILMINGTON, June 18 (AP)—John Partridge, the veteran trainer of Spring Hill farm's Jamie K is a hard man to convince.

Partridge still believes his colt is a match for Native Dancer despite three setbacks by Alfred Vanderbilt's gray ghost this year. Partridge has Jamie K at Delaware park prepping for Saturday's $40,000 Leonard Richards stakes. He feels Jamie K can lick the Dancer coming off the pace and not setting it.

Jamie K lost to the Dancer by a neck in the Belmont stakes, the same margin that separated the two three-year-olds in the Preakness, and the Spring Hill horse never was a factor in the Wood Memorial won by Native Dancer. But that doesn't bother Partridge.

"I don't think there's over a pound difference in the two colts. We lost to Native Dancer fair and square in the Belmont, and I have no alibis. I do think the fact that there was no pace in that mile and a half did not help us any. You have to run at the Dancer. He's mighty tough. But I still think we have a good chance to beat him."

After the Leonard Richards, we'll go after Native Dancer again out in Chicago, and I won't be surprised if Jamie K beats Mr. Vanderbilt's colt next time," said Partridge.

Native Dancer won't be around Saturday in the Leonard Richards mile and a furlong feature. Jamie K, with jockey Eddie Arcaro in the saddle, is odds on favorite in a field that includes Robby stables' Magic Lamp and V-Two, along with Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Maabrook.

Fonty Flock Confident of Win and Record

American and Foreign Stock Models Put to Final Test in Langhorne International '200' Sunday

LANGHORNE, Herb Thomas, Tim and Fonty Flock will lead a field of American stock car pilots against a group who will be piloting foreign-made stocks when the two meet on a raceway for the first time Sunday in the running of the International "200" around the world famous Langhorne speedway. In all, the fastest fifty will answer the starting flag beginning at 2:30 p. m.

Leading the negotiators who will depend on the foreign-made stocks will be Norm Brioux, 1952 Canadian stock car champion, and Ed Shaw, 1952 Canadian big car racing champion.

These two speedsters will be driving as a team with Brioux taking the green flag and Shaw standing by for relief.

Bruce Hickey, Canadian motorcycle champion and also quite proficient at manipulating the stocks, will be on hand with a foreign mount.

Numerous pilots who have established quite a reputation with the American-made late model stocks will be in the field. This group includes Nick Fonora, 1950 National midget auto racing champion, and Charley Miller, veteran speedway pilot now residing in Allentown. Several other of NASCAR's top drivers will be seen behind the wheels of foreign entries.

Herb Thomas is the current leader in the race for NASCAR honors. He is the record holder for the one lap and also the 1951 National Champion. He needs a triumph Sunday afternoon if he hopes to retain his point lead for the second man, Dick Rathman, is less than 300 points behind.

TIM FLOCK, defending NASCAR champion, is long overdue at the famed Bucks county racing plant and looks for a triumph. Brother

Back in 1892 the Cincinnati Red Stockings led the National League in attendance with a grand total of 190,673 patrons.

Red Kress, new coach for the Cleveland Indians, managed the Daytona Beach team in Class D ball last season.

Fonty holds the record for the 200-mile distance around the 'Horne.

Don Cockell, Harry Matthews To Box in July

LONDON, June 18 (AP)—Don Cockell, the British heavyweight champion, will fight Harry Matthews, of Seattle, Wash., in Boise, Idaho, on July 24, John Simpson, Cockell's manager, said today.

Simpson said he had accepted terms for a 10-round offered by Tex Aker, the Idaho promoter.

"We propose to go to America two weeks before the fight," Simpson said.

Cockell, who weighs 205, won the British title by outpointing the holder, Johnny Williams, in London May 12.

Chitwood's Drivers Compete Tonight

HATFIELD — Joie Chitwood's Auto Daredevils will make their first appearance here tonight at 8:45 p. m. in the Tournament of Thrills, world's championship auto daredevil contest, in which seven top-ranking stunt shows will vie for stunt honors on the half-mile oval.

Twenty-two outstanding stuntmen, including stars of the Indianapolis Auto Daredevils, Texas Lone Stars, Mexican Motorama Thrillade, Royal Scots, Hollywood Thrill Drivers and the Teter All-Stars, will stack up against the Chitwood stuntmen in the 30 event program of automotive thrills.

In the event of rain, the entire show will be staged tomorrow night, Saturday.

THE FEATURED attraction of the two-hour stunt program is the aerial "Torpedo Car" leap in which a stuntman will send a new 1953 Ford stock sedan hurtling a distance of 110 ft. from a launching platform to a receiving rampway. Such prominent stunt stars as Dick Cobb, of the Chitwood Daredevils, Bob LaBay, of the Canadian Aces, Buddy Brooks, of the Indianapolis team, Bobby Dyer, of the Texas Lone Stars, Jimmy Mercer, of the Hollywood Thrill Drivers, and Chico Gonzales, of the Mexican Motorama Thrillade, are scheduled to see action on the Hatfield oval.

Cobb or LaBay will be called upon to attempt the "Torpedo Car" leap.

Pat Lesser Wins Semi-Final Spot In Western Open

ATLANTA, June 18 (AP)—A series of lopsided matches today pushed two top professionals, an amateur veteran and a college girl newcomer into the semi-finals of the Women's Western Open Golf championship.

Pat Lesser, the newly crowned intercollegiate champion from Seattle, continued to catch the crowd's fancy as she rolled up an 8 and 7 decision over Jean Hopkins, a much more experienced player from Cleveland.

Atlanta's Louise Suggs, the year's top money winner among the play-for-pay delegation, had almost as easy a time disposing of Major Pat Grant, the hard swinging Wac from Fort McClellan, Ala., 5 and 3. By the same margin, Patty Berg, the stocky pro veteran from St. Andrews, Ill., knocked out Claire Doran, a Cleveland amateur, who shared medal honors over the sharply rolling capital city course.

THE NEAREST THING to a close test came when Dorothy Kirby, longtime Atlanta amateur, eliminated little Betty Hicks of Los Angeles, 3 and 2, with a bombing birdie-three on the long 16th hole. The lineup for tomorrow's 18-hole semi-finals is strictly a pro-amateur test with Lesser meeting Suggs in the top bracket while Berg and Kirby are paired in the lower half.

Bobo Olson Favored 3-1 Over Paddy Young

NEW YORK, June 18 (AP)—Carl (Bobo) Olson, a punishing boxer-puncher from Hawaii's Hula land, remained a 3 to 1 favorite today over Paddy Young, saddle-nosed New York slugger, for tomorrow's 15-round American middleweight title bout at Madison Square garden.

Britain's Randy Turpin, claimant to the world title, has agreed to meet the winner, probably Aug. 27 in New York, for the undisputed championship of the 160-pound class.

The important bout, scheduled for 10 p. m. will be carried on network radio and television, the customary Friday night setup.

In addition to the $50,000 special TV fee, the International Boxing club expects a crowd of 9000 to pay some $35,000 at the gate. Each fighter gets 30 percent of "everything," including TV, or approximately $21,000.

The Young camp, and some neutral observers, scoff at the lopsided odds. They point to Paddy's five rugged battle with rock-throwing Ernie Durando as proof he can't be hurt by Olson.

OLSON, Honolulu-born but now living in San Francisco, simply predicts a decision win—also on body punching.

The pick here is Olson whose slashing style, awkwardly effective, should open old cuts around Paddy's eyes. New York rules provide for two judges and a referee to score the fight by rounds with a supplementary point system.

Olson has been in with the best, fighting Sugar Ray Robinson twice. Robinson stopped him once, back in 1950. But Bobo made it real close in March, 1952, dropping a tight one at San Francisco. He has won nine straight since that defeat.

Robinson, who vacated the title last December when he retired, has picked Olson.

In Young's favor, it must be said that he worked harder for this fight at Wilton, N. Y. than for any fight in his 55-bout career dating back to 1946. He is slim around the middle, conditioned to hard knocks by a rousing "war" with light heavyweight Tony Johnson every afternoon.

YOUNG GETS a terrific break in moving into a title shot, despite his virtual involuntary retirement for a year. While his manager feuded with the rival Managers' Guild, Paddy was idle from March 7, 1952 to March 27, 1953. He has had only four fights since Nov. 2.

1951, all with Durando. A 12-round decision over the tough Jersey slugger last March won him the Olson bout.

Son of a stevedore, the 24-year-old boxer from the Greenwich Village section in downtown Manhattan has a 44-8-2 record. He has knocked out 21 opponents and was stopped twice.

Olson cleaned up the 160-pound class, stopping Walter Cartier, Lee Sala and Gene Hairston and whipping Jimmy Beau, Robert Villmain and Horman Hayes (twice) within the last 13 months. His record is formidable—52-5 since 1945. He has 25 knockouts and was stopped only once—by Robinson.

Son of a Swedish-American father and a Portuguese-Hawaiian mother, Olson has adopted some of the mannerisms of European fighters. He keeps his hands high with elbows spread to block "outside" punches like Young, who is a converted southpaw. Prematurely bald at 24, he volleys in fast, short flurries of counter punching.

Three former Michigan State NCAA boxing champions are now fighting professionally — 11 light heavyweights Chuck Speiser and welterweights Chuck Davey and Jed Black.

Judge Turns Down NFL's Bid for Delay

PHILADELPHIA, June 18 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Alan K. Grim today dismissed National Football league request for a stay of the Government's anti-trust suit against the league's radio broadcast and telecast policy.

Judge Grim said he wanted to reach a decision in the case before the 1953 season gets underway. The league had asked for an indefinite delay in filing briefs. Counsel argued that cases before the US Supreme court involving the reserve clause in baseball will have an important bearing on the football litigation.

League attorneys said the high court decision in the baseball cases will determine whether or not baseball is in interstate commerce, and therefore resolve an issue in the football case. They asked that the briefs await the Supreme court decision.

JUDGE GRIM said: "There appears more than a bare possibility that the stay which the defendants request will work damage to someone else, namely the radio, television and advertising industries and perhaps the vast radio and television audience." The Government claims the public is being damaged by the alleged anti-trust violation.

Grim added, "It should be noted that if the proceedings in the present case should be stayed until the cases mentioned have been decided by the Supreme court another football season will pass before a decision is noted in the present one."

Rosenbergs Win Stay

on the phone. Brownell went into his office without comment.

A few minutes after FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover left his own suite and joined the attorney general in Brownell's office.

All day — ironically, it was the Rosenbergs' 14th wedding anniversary — a suspense had mounted as the hours which could have been the couple's last hours ticked away.

THE ALMOST unprecedented Summer session of the court, the demonstrations at the White House and the Capitol, the rumbling echoes of controversy in other quarters here and abroad had made the Rosenbergs storm centers of a far-flung controversy.

The black-robed justices left their bench at 3:32 p. m. after hearing three hours of arguments—some of it hot-tempered—for and against reversing Douglas' action.

At that moment the time set for the electrocution of the Rosenbergs — unless Douglas' ruling was allowed to stand — was less than eight hours away.

The justices gave no immediate indication what action they might take or how soon they might take it. The stay granted by Douglas was in effect, however, unless the Court should rule otherwise.

AS THE SUSPENSE mounted, more than 2000 demonstrators, pleading for clemency on behalf of the condemned couple massed in the corridors of the Capitol, within sight of the Supreme Court. The white marble court building itself also was besieged — not by demonstrators but by long lines of would-be spectators eager for a look at the proceedings. In the court chamber itself, all 300 of the public seats were filled and a hush fell over the chaste decorated room before the judges filed in at 12:12 p. m.

Quietly, often in a smilingly conversational fashion, Acting Solicitor General Robert L. Stern asked the Court to overrule what his chief, Attorney General Brownell, had referred to as Douglas' "unprecedented" action.

Stern held that the Rosenbergs were tried fairly under the 1917 Espionage act and were rightly convicted of passing atomic secrets to the Russians during World War II.

HE SAID the Government is convinced they could not have been tried properly under the Atomic Energy Act of 1946. Had the Government proceeded against them under that act, he said, it would have been laughed out of court.

This was the crux of the whole argument.

The defense has raised the 11th hour question whether the later act shouldn't have determined the penalty for the Rosenbergs.

And this act would not allow a death sentence unless the trial jury recommended one. In the New York trial of the Rosenbergs there was no such recommendation.

NEW MAN GETS UNION POSITION

William Robbins Picked to Represent Steel Locals

The staff representative post for United Steel Workers (CIO) in the Pottstown area has changed for a third time since this past winter.

The latest staff representative serving Pottstown's four Steel Worker locals, the Bethlehem, Flagg, Jacobs and Neapco unions, and three other locals is William Robbins, former president of the SKF Local in Philadelphia.

He has been appointed to replace Albert J. Marsh who was named this past winter to replace Joseph Pickard.

Both Marsh and Pickard have been given new assignments. William J. Hart, administrator for District 7, which embraces southeastern Pennsylvania, Delaware and southern New Jersey, has assigned Pickard to West Virginia.

Marsh, who was sent to Pottstown to replace Pickard by H. Charles Ford, former district director, has been sent to St. Louis.

Marsh suffered a heart attack during the bitter fight for district director in the borough this past February.

Pickard was appointed to his new post early in June. Also reassigned was James Jones, PAC director for the district. He is in New York.

Hart was appointed administrator of the district after the bitter saw-saw contest between Ford and Richard G. Davidson, Norristown, left the district politically ruptured.

MANY SUPPORTERS of both men are hopeful the period of storm has ended. Hart has been granted sweeping powers to hire and fire in an effort to calm the rough political waters.

Both Ford and Davidson have been reassigned by the international union. Both claimed victory in the close election.

The international executive board named Hart administrator on the theory neither Ford nor Davidson could mend the torn segments of the union.

FRIDAY, JUNE 19, 1933

The old order changeth, yielding place to new; and God fulfils Himself in many ways, lest one good custom should corrupt the world.

—Alfred Lord Tennyson.

Boon to A Boom

PROSPERITY and progress in booming Pottstown will bulge in two directions—east and west—tomorrow when the National Bank of Pottstown will formally open and dedicate branch banks in Stowe and the East End.

With an expenditure of more than $300,000 in original outlay at stake, directors of the bank have placed boundless faith not only in their own institution to grow and flourish but in the sound and expanding business of the fringes of the borough.

Quick looks at both neighborhoods are all that are needed for assurance that the bank directors know what they are doing. Each of the neighborhoods has mushroomed not only in size and number of homes and places of business but with a quality that presages "great things" in the years to come.

The National Bank has made a noble contribution to their new neighbors. Not only are they being afforded complete banking services which will enable them to carry on banking business of any type right in their own backyard but they are being given tasteful edifices of distinction and beauty which are an asset to any community.

All Pottstown rejoices with the National Bank, its directors and every one associated with it and wishes them continued success in their new fields of service.

A Just Sentence

A Willow Grove mother of five children double parked her automobile just long enough to dash into a store to make one purchase.

When she came out, there was a police ticket on her car. Late, she refused to pay the dollar fine and was sentenced to five days in jail.

She said she'd never pay the fine because it was "unjust."

But her brother came along, anted up $13.50 and the lady in question was freed from the hoosegow.

There doesn't seem to be much sympathy that can be wasted on the lady in question. She violated a law, was caught and assessed a nominal fine. But she had other ideas; she thought the violation wasn't a flagrant one, merely killed and all that sort of thing.

But laws are enacted to preserve people and to protect their property. Officials are bound to enforce them. People cannot be judge of their own misdoings. In this case the officials are to be complimented for tossing the lady into the klink which was their only alternative when she wouldn't pay the fine.

May there be more fearless law enforcement!

Happy Ending

EVERYBODY likes a story with a happy ending, and so it was right refreshing to read in The Mercury that inhabitants of Green Acres, north of Pottstown, are happy with their new paved road.

It all started back in 1948 when the Green Acresites figured the township hadn't done right by them. There was all sorts of bandying of words, hot tempers and even an accusation here and there.

There was even a day in court, which ended with one order of a judge to the supervisors to get the road paved.

Now the road has been paved. It's really a delightful neighborhood with pleasant surroundings.

But the residents had to kick up a lot of dust before they got their paved road. Which shows once again that determination and perseverance pay off . . . with a happy ending.

Not Since the 1300s

THE Twentieth century may go down in history as the stormiest since the fourteenth. No one knows exactly why the 1300s were so stormy, but climatologists agree it was an uncomfortable time to be alive. Paleoclimatologists, the men who study climatic fluctuations of the past, say there never was anything like the fourteenth century for seafoots, gales, and harsh winters. The people of the time called it the era of "the great man-drowning."

PUNKIN CORNERS
Editor, The Mercury
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see what the cost of mail is goin' up again. Out here the cost of keepin' up the males went up long ago.

Then that's the guy that said he was thankful the cops pinched him for drivin' a car while he was tipsy. They should hang his picture up in the post-office so maybe them crooks that ain't caught could see how happy they'd be if they would get caught.

'N' speakin' of gettin' caught, I see whar 15 speeders got trapped on West High street. They should set out skunk traps for those guys what endanger the lives of others.

Hopin' you air the same,

Police Physician Needed Here!

Save That Life!

To the Editor: I think it's high time we get a police physician in Pottstown. There are a lot of things a community can be slow in getting or backwards in doing.

But when it may play a part in the saving of a life I think we shouldn't hesitate one more day. It's been four years now, I understand, since we've had a police doctor.

I feel badly for the policemen. They know how difficult it is to get convictions without the testimony of a doctor.

Why not give the policemen the weapons they need? We give them clubs and guns and authority because they need it. Why hold out when they're in need of a weapon that's just as important as a gun?

Can't the police committee get anywhere with this problem?

Pottstown SAFETY-MINDED

Stop Tipsey Drivers

To the Editor: I was glad to read in The Mercury that the police arrested somebody for drunken driving the other night. Even though it may be hard to find a doctor to examine them, I think police should make the effort, because drunken driving is one of the worst problems we have on our highways.

I also think that Pottstown councilmen and other officials should get together and write Harrisburg, urging the State to adopt a method of testing drunks that would not require a police doctor. I read in a magazine only recently that such tests are proving very effective.

Pottstown G. R. T.

Stop Speeding!

To the Editor: Come one, come all; test drive your car on the Firestone drive speedway! This is an opportunity you can't miss.

For only a few cents worth of gas, you too can drive your car down this sleek, new concrete strip. There is only one hitch, if you drive less than 50-miles per hour, you are on the wrong road.

The drive itself is only about 500 yards in length. It starts at East High street and stretches to the plant. Midway down the drive that is a small residential district where numerous children live. Some of these youngsters get notions sometimes and cross the road. It would be tragic if one of them were struck by a speeding car.

The road is beautiful; there are no obstructions. It is ideal for driving. Perhaps this is what is wrong with the road; it is too appetizing for the careless and speeding driver.

Someday soon, although I don't hope for it, someone is going to pay the supreme penalty for trying to be a hero. Their car will be smashed into a million pieces; their bodies broken, and their blood splattered all over the place. Then and only then will something be done about driving conditions on Firestone drive.

Pottstown SUNRISE LANE.

Cops Are to Blame

To the Editor: Isn't it wonderful that we should have such adequate facilities for tracking down and capturing criminals. Our law enforcement agencies have come a long way since the time of Billy the Kid.

But why is this so? Why must millions of the taxpayers' money go into making our police departments better, equipment-wise and personnel-wise.

Why? Well there is only one reason that I can really see. Simply because the gangster of today is smarter than he was many years ago. Now, what makes him smarter; what makes him more elusive than before?

I blame our cops for this. The crook today is smart, all right. In fact, if you check the record, you will find that it is the crook that has brought about these new advances in our police departments. He is always one step ahead of the cops; then it is the cops who must devise new methods of getting him.

Now, here is the point of all this: how can we look with pride at our law agencies, when it is the crooks that have made them what they are. No one can honestly say the law came first and then the trouble started. No, the trouble started and then came the law.

New Hanover PRIVATE EYE

Those Street Blockers

To the Editor: Do those downtown street line painters really have to paint those lines when the traffic is heaviest? Do they lie awake nights thinking when they most effectively can block the streets and bottle up traffic?

On the other hand, why don't they paint lines in the early hours of the morning when they won't disturb so many people?

That sounds to me like a sensible suggestion.

The Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Gossip in Gotham

HEDEY LAMARR is making the rounds of Europe's most expensive psychiatrists. The glamor girl is suffering from insomnia—and when she does go to sleep she has wierd dreams . . . Six strip-tease spots are about to open in the heart of the Broadway area, where they haven't dared operate since Fiorello's day. There just isn't any more room for kirlie joints on 52nd street.

Harry Truman has asked a femme really broke to search for a Long Island house, in or near East Hampton, "not over $150,000."

Another stipulation: the place must have a dock, because the ex-prize likes deep sea fishing . . . Marilyn Maxwell is almost on the dotted line as the lead in John Murray Anderson's "Almanac," the revue scheduled for Broadway in the Fall.

Gene Tierney is wearing the no-lipstick style makeup around Paris, because that's the way Ali Khan likes his girls. (And it means he doesn't have any red goo on his face after their smooching sessions, some of which they conduct right on the dance floor of Elephant Blanc to the fascination of the elegant patrons.)

Advance copies of the new "Confidential" arrived at desks around town accompanied by asbestos gloves—yes, really!—because of the Bobo-Winthrop story.

Peter Howard, who used to be engaged to Betsy von Furstenburg, now prefers the peripatetic Doris Lilly. He's headed for Rome to take pictures of Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce for a magazine layout, and he has asked Doris to join him in Spain in mid-July when he's finished the assignment. (P.S. He recently inherited three million dollars.)

WALTER REUTHER'S intimates say the union leader has been corresponding with Adlai Stevenson, asking him, among other things, about his availability for the Presidential candidacy in 1956. Adlai, typically, replied he couldn't answer "categorically—it depends on world conditions."

Dorothy Dandridge had to cancel over $10,000 worth of singing engagements, for a reason that always makes people laugh, even though it's not funny. She had the measles!

TOPS IN TOWN: Los Chavales de Espana, the terrific musical group, at the Starlight roof.

Teddy and Phyllis Rodriguez' smooth terpsichore on the Copa parquet. Those hickory broiled steaks at Hickory House . . . Bob Santa Maria's MGM biscuit, "You're Mine, My Love." . . . And the Dominoes doing "These Foolish Things."

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DORIS R., is a high school sophomore. "Dr. Crane, I don't believe I ever was so heartbroken before," she began.

"Just last night I asked my boy friend if he was tired of me. And he said he'd rather not say. But, of course, that told me he was tired of me, so I cried and cried."

"He knows I am crazy about him. Maybe you think I am too young to know what love is, but I have never been hurt so badly in all my life."

"He kissed me and said we'd still be sweethearts, at least for awhile. But it kills me to think of giving him up."

"Why, just two weeks ago he told me he loved me and even said we would be married."

"YOU DON'T KNOW how happy it made me, to hear him say that. But that's all over now. I mean our marrying business. And I had so many things planned for our life together."

"We started telling vulgar jokes and started talking vulgar. Do you suppose that may be what caused him to change?"

"Besides, I let him take 'liberties' one night. Then I got your bulletin on 'Sex Problems of Young People.'"

Doris comes from an average American home where she wasn't given adequate sex instruction. Her parents failed to vaccinate her with the facts. We call this fixation.

PERHAPS YOU MAY think she is silly and very short-sighted to grow so emotional about the first boy in her life. But there are literally millions of other American teen-agers trying to grow up too fast. They haven't been "fascinated."

So they smoke and drink and imitate their elders even regarding vulgar stories.

If you parents smoke and drink before your youth, and snicker at lewd stories, why be surprised that your children follow your example.

You can see the wholesome effects on such teen-agers of sound sexual advice. Notice Doris's comment about the change in her behavior after reading the sex bulletin for youth which she got by writing me in care of her newspaper.

Young people cannot become mature in judgment, unless they either experiment and often get burnt, or else read the plain facts that will eliminate their need for such dangerous experimentation.

Watch tomorrow's case record for further advice to youth on how to win a sweetheart.

2. Who was the author of the Koran?

FOLKS OF FAME—GUESS THE NAME

1. She was born on a farm near Buckland, Mass., on Feb. 28, 1797, and began to teach when she was 17. In 1817, with earnings from spinning and weaving, she entered an academy, supporting herself there and at other academies by teaching. Her success as a teacher and administrator and the demand for the young women she trained were the beginning of her plan for "a permanent institution consecrated to the training of young women for usefulness." Aided in these efforts by Edward Hitchcock, geologist with whom she studied, re-enforced by her own enthusiasm and common sense, she won financial support. Can you tell her name?

2. Born in Bourbon county, Ky., in 1863, he is the author of many novels. The list includes "A Mountain Europa," "A Cumberland Vendetta," "Hell for Sartain," "The Kentuckians," "Crittenden, Bluegrass and Rhododendron," "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," "Christmas Eve on Lonesome," "Following the Sun Flag," "Knight of the Cumberland," "Trail of the Lonesome Pine," "The Heart of the Hills." He died on July 8, 1919. Who was he? (Names at bottom of column)

Pint In Need . . .

Nature's Wonders . . .

★ QUICK RETURN—Frank M. Haines, 442 Walnut street, went home the other day from Pottstown hospital with a pint of blood in his veins that showed how quickly bread cast upon the water can return. The past April 28, he gave a pint of blood to the Red Cross blood for Korea program, along with other employees of Stanley G. Flagg and company. Twelve days ago, he went to the hospital for an emergency operation on a perforated ulcer. While he was unconscious, he was given a pint of blood. As it will do with any donor, the Red Cross paid for the pint he needed. Haines is feeling fine. And incidentally, the bloodmobile will be at the King street armory June 29.

★ OPEN HOUSE—Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Moser, charter subscribers to The Mercury 'way back in 1921, who used to live in Parkerford and then Robesonia, have now migrated to Orlando, Fla. They're living at 524 West King avenue where they've got the welcome mat spread out for their friends.

★ EARLY TOMATO, FUNNY BERRY—A Spring City mother and daughter are setting marks in the unusual produce division. The mother, Mrs. Charles Frick, 159 Walnut street, has a contender in the earliest tomato competition. It was red ripe early this week. The tomato was on the smallest of four stalks she raised. The daughter, Mrs. Clifford Weaver, who lives in another apartment at the same address, has in the freezer a strawberry with a cluster of leaves growing out of one end of it, just like the berry was a stalk. "I never in all my life have seen anything like it," Mrs. Weaver asserted. The berry was in a box she bought in Parkerford.

★ INSTANT coffee sales are now accounting for 18 percent of total coffee volume with the percentage growing steadily . . . Want to grow your own parsley in an easy fashion? Fill a kitchen sponge with parsley seed and keep the sponge fairly moist and you'll have parsley in jig time.

★ UNDER THE FLAG—Two localities have been graduated from the Wheel Vehicle Repair course at the U.S. Army Ordnance automotive school in Atlanta, Ga. They are Pvt. Richard Rieznier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reigner, 104 Berks street, Stowe, and Pvt. Charles L. Richards, son of Mrs. Emma C. Richards, 917 Walnut street. Private Reigner formerly worked at Doehler's. Both entered the service the past December . . . Pvt. Norman L. Segner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett L. Segner, Kimberton, has arrived in Korea for duty with the 25th Infantry division . . . Pvt. Gerald E. Emery, Phoenixville, is serving with the Korean base section . . . Cpl. Robert A. Roncace, Phoenixville, is scheduled for an early return home from England under the Army's rotation plan . . . Norman W. Moentman, Glen Moore, a student at Penn State, reports to the Turner Air Force base, Albany, Ga., on Sunday for Summer encampment.

★ HONORS—Two Pottstown arecates have made the Dean's list at Kutztown State Teachers College. They are Edna Baber, Schwenksville, and George Shob, Pottstown.

★ "LEADER OF TOMORROW"—Sidney M. Ruffin, 37-year-old son of Mrs. John Ruffin, 643 High street, has been named one of the outstanding young men of Pittsburgh, by a committee of civic leaders headed by Dr. J. C. Warner, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology. The committee went through 1300 nominations before selecting the 100 "Leaders of Tomorrow." Ruffin came with his family to Pottstown when he was 10, and was graduated from Pottstown Senior High school before attending the University of Virginia. He now is a partner in a major Pittsburgh law firm. During World War II, he commanded a Navy LCI boat. The selection of young leaders was sponsored by Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and Time magazine.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

HOARSENESS is not particularly dangerous in itself, and when temporary, is really not too much of a handicap—unless, of course, a person has to use his voice constantly in speaking and meeting the public.

Persistent hoarseness, however, may possibly be one of the early signs of cancer of the larynx or vocal cords, and this is why it is important.

This should not over-alarm a person who happens to be a little hoarse, for cancer is rare in comparison with the other possible causes of prolonged hoarseness, such as sinus disturbances or just a form of laryngitis.

A person with hoarseness should make it his business to see his doctor promptly for an examination to make sure that cancer is not present.

This is doubly important because it is so easy for a person to go four to six weeks, or often longer, with a case of hoarseness without trying to find out the cause for it.

Cancer of the vocal cords is more frequent after the age of 40, and occurs more commonly in men than women.

In the early stages, hoarseness may be the only symptom, because pain rarely occurs until the cancer is far advanced. A feeling of a lump or distress in the throat may also be one of the first signs.

The physician can usually observe the vocal cords and voice box (larynx) with a simple type of mirror. Spraying the throat with a local anesthetic usually makes it easier to do this.

If the cords or their box look suspicious, the doctor can take a small sample of the tissue—known as making a biopsy—to examine under the microscope and determine if there is any cancer or disorder that may develop into cancer.

CHAMPION GETS REFILL—For the second successive year, Mrs. Stella Petkovsek, of Little Falls, N. Y., proudly holds the cup she won in the milking competition at the New York State annual Dairyland festival in Watertown, N. Y. Mrs. Petkovsek milked "Bossy" for 13.3 pounds of milk—slightly more than six quarts—in the two minutes allowed each person.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Trip to Europe

Impressions of coronation preparations in London were among the scenes described in a travel talk by Charles S. Nagle at the meeting of the Rotary club last night.

Nagle visited London while enroute from the Paris convention of Rotary International, which he attended as a delegate of the Pottstown club.

He also described scenes he had visited in Paris and Geneva, Switzerland.

President Walter F. Heise, another local delegate, spoke on the activities of the convention, which he said was attended by 4250 delegates and 1850 alternates from all over the world.

Heise, who also was in charge of last night's meeting in the Elks home, gave a report on convention sessions and committee meetings, but promised a more detailed report at the next meeting.

Labor Group Plans To Set Up Militia

LA PAZ, Bolivia, June 18 (AP)—The Bolivian Labor federation decided today to establish an armed militia with units in each of the Nation's Department (State) capitals.

President Victor Paz Estenssoro would be the militia's nominal chief but direct command would be in the hands of Labor Minister Juan Lechin and eight aides.

Lechin, long a labor leader in Bolivia, is classed among the leftist elements of the Paz Estenssoro Government. Bolivia's regular army officer cadres were virtually wiped out after the April 1952 revolution in which the army was defeated by civilians. Lechin has taken the lead in preventing rebirth of the old army which he termed an instrument of wealthy tin interests.

FIRM SHUT DOWN BY COURT ORDER

1125 Without Jobs In Move Against Reading Plant

Pottstonians employed by the Reading Clothing Manufacturing company were out of jobs yesterday.

A sheriff's padlock was placed on the plant after the Berks County Trust company obtained a court judgement against the firm yesterday for $550,000.

In all, some 1125 employees were out of work as a result of the move.

Sheriff Roy Schweitzer said the judgement had been received on a first mortgage obtained from the bank in December, 1949.

IRVING DEUTSCH, president of the company, called the padlocking "a surprise shutdown."

He blamed the firm's difficulties on failure of the Government to deliver goods to be converted into uniforms. Deutsch said the company has contracts with the Government totaling more than $1,000,000.

Reds Remove Official

MOSCOW, Friday, June 19 (AP)—A prominent member of the Communist party in the Moldavian SSR, has been removed, and a secretary of the party's central committee has been transferred to other work, it was announced today.

(Moldavia is a new republic in the Soviet union. It constitutes a part of Old Bessarabia, which Russia took from Romania during World War II).

US ENVOYS—James S. Kemper, 66, of Barrington, Ill., has been nominated to be the new United States Ambassador to Brazil. Kemper, an insurance executive, is a former treasurer of the Republican National committee.

Flammable Materials Barred by Congress

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Senate passage sent to the President today a House bill barring the movement in interstate commerce of highly flammable wearing apparel and fabrics.

The Senate Commerce committee said the measure, approved without objection, would outlaw from interstate commerce such articles as "highly flammable children's cowboy suits, and the so-called torch sweaters or jackets which have caused serious injuries or death," to a number of persons in recent years.

Reds Assert Population Approved of Execution

BERLIN, Friday, June 19 (AP)—East German Communist news agency ADN claimed today that the "population of all Berlin, the population of all Germany, approve" Soviet execution of a jobless Berlin truck driver.

Willi Goetting, 35, was shot by a Russian army firing squad yesterday as the alleged organizer of anti-Communist riots in East Berlin.

ADN called the Soviet court martial's sentence of Goetting a "measure to secure peace," adding:

"Better that some bandits should pay legally for their crimes against peace than that the entire people should be steered for a third time into the crime of war."

US APPEALS FOR BLOOD DONORS

Local Drive Chairman
Cites Urgent Need
In Korea

There's an urgent need for blood for United Nations soldiers in Korea and Pottstown can help.

Dr. Elmer S. Friedberg, Pottstown blood service chairman for the Red Cross, yesterday reported the bloodmobile will visit the armory, 221 King street, a week from Monday on June 29, to help meet the emergency needs.

Friedberg said the Defense department has made an "urgent request" for blood.

He reported, "Whole blood for our fighting men in Korea is practically exhausted and must be replenished immediately." Dr. Friedberg pointed out whole blood can be kept intact for only 21 days, hence, a constant flow is required from the American public.

BLOOD ALSO is needed for the manufacture of gamma globulin to give children immunity against polio during Summer months.

The Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the armory from 1 to 6:30 p. m. on June 29.

All persons wishing to donate blood can do so by calling the Red Cross office.

Friedberg added, "Only a very few donors have signed. We need a minimum of 230 to meet the allotted quota."

OIL PAINTER —

The 14-year-old (he won't be 15 until March 18) has a deceptively simple explanation of the trend his work has taken. "I just like the colors it brings out," he said, "You can get more variety with that kind of mood, I think."

THE BASIC REASON he paints, he said, is "It's fun, I enjoy it. If it weren't, I wouldn't be doing it."

This Summer, he is spending most of his efforts on improving his technique as a draftsman, rather than on doing complete paintings.

Next year, he'll be in the Ninth grade of Pottstown Junior High school. When he completes Senior High school, he said, he hopes to go on to art school.

An adult friend of his explained, partly, why he developed the talent. As a child, he had a chronic heart ailment that prevented him from doing much in the line of sports or strenuous games, so he turned to drawing and later painting.

He's out-growing the heart condition rapidly, but the interest he's acquired in art has remained.

His mother is Mrs. Anna Stoltzfus, proprietor of the Arcade Dress and Tot shop. His father is a machinist-foreman for a Reading Steel company.

The son attended schools in Morgantown, where the family lived, before moving to Pottstown the past year.

DISABLED KOREAN VETS STRIKE—Protesting against proposed armistice terms, some 300 crippled and disabled South Korean veterans stage a "sitdown" strike in front of the National Assembly building in Pusan. Group Making It Easier For Tourists to Travel

PARIS, June 18 (AP)—Practical progress is smoothing the path of tourists between countries was reported today by the executive committee of the International Union of Official Travel organizations.

Mogens Lichtenberg of Denmark cited the more liberal currency allowances to tourists made in Germany, Denmark, Great Britain, Norway and The Netherlands, among others.

He also said the United States has decided to abolish the embarkation tax for Americans leaving their country; Germany no longer requires tourist visas from 15 European countries, and the four Scandinavian countries have abolished all controls along their common frontiers for their own nationals.

Everest Conquerors Reported Returning

BANEP, Nepal, June 18 (AP)—The conquerors of 29,002-foot Mount Everest, world's highest mountain, today were reported due Saturday in this tiny outpost 20 miles from Katmandu, the Nepalese kingdom's capital.

The main Everest party slowly trekking toward the royal reception awaiting them in Katmandu includes Sherpa guide Tensing Norgay and the newly-knighted New Zealander Edmund Hillary, the two who actually topped Everest.

Col. John Hunt, the expedition leader, preceded them to Katmandu.

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By the VACATION EDITOR
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Before Summer blends into Fall a little bit of Pottstown will be deposited in every state in the Nation and a number of foreign countries.

When vacationers from this borough and surrounding communities kick up their heels in another clime, The Mercury wishes them a good time and promises to help make their vacations more successful.

Parvin Lake Bathing Scene

Even vacations have their pitfalls. That's where The Mercury comes to bat.

No one likes a dozen odd and superfluous chores on vacation. Mailing cards is one of those chores which can prove laborious.

YOU CAN save wear and tear on your fountain pen and wear and tear on tattered nerves by sending one card to The Mercury Vacation Editor. He will print your message and reproduce the picture on your card.

Remember to send complete names and addresses of all persons in your vacation party.

The Vacation Editor wants to know all about the fortunate cities and states where a little dust from Pottstown has settled.

And vacationer, when you go abroad don't be afraid to advertise the old home town. When a slow Rebel or a friendly Westerner asks, "Where yu from mate," just answer back, "I'm from Pottstown, Pennsylvania."

TELLING the folks down Jersey way they're from "Pottstown, Pennsylvania" are seven Girl Scouts and two leaders from Stowe.

Their card showed a bathing scene at Parvin Lake, near Vineland, N. J.

They like the way the Jerseyites are treating them, but they're sure Jersey mosquitoes are much hungrier than their Pennsylvania relatives.

They write, "Dear Editor—Staying here for a week and enjoying ourselves rowing, swimming and fighting off these Jersey mosquitoes." They forgot one thing. They neglected to submit a complete list of names and addresses in their party.

Don't make the Vacation Editor's job a bore. He's happy when he's busy and you vacationers can keep him on the go.

Mortar Shell Kills Soldier at Ft. Dix

FORT DIX, N. J., June 18 (AP)—A mortar shell, exploding too soon, killed one soldier and injured 16 others during a firing range demonstration at Fort Dix today.

The dead man was identified as Pvt. Frank X. Zirnheld, 20, of Buffalo, N. Y. Army officials said he died of chest and forehead injuries.

Capt. Harry Lapham Jr., post public information officer, said the accident occurred while the men, all recruits in the 15th week of their basic training, were watching demonstration firing.

while this might be the end. We were lucky to get out as easily as we did. I was afraid my wife was going to die. She was unconscious for some time. We thought her skull had been crushed. Her head went against the windshield and her body against the dashboard.

"I put my left hand through the windshield and broke the finger next to the little finger."

Tucker, whose car is fully covered by insurance, said he was heading toward Philadelphia "on business."

Both cars were towed away from the scene.
